WELCOME TO NEVADA!

Our state is special, from its origins during the Civil War, to the engineering marvel of the Hoover Dam, to the dazzling improbability of Las Vegas. Nevada brings to mind the spare beauty of the Great Basin and Mojave deserts as well as the towering landscapes of the Humboldt-Toiyabe National Forest.

It's a state that preserves its cultural heritage at such sites and events as the Stewart Indian School in Carson City, the Tonopah Historic Mining Park, and the National Cowboy Poetry Gathering in Elko. Nevada has 23 state parks and numerous federal recreation areas, which provide the perfect backdrop for rock climbing, skiing, fishing, off-highway vehicle exploring and more. It's a special state full of unique Nevada stories, and we are excited to share it with you.

Road trips and adventure are at the heart of the Nevada experience, and this guide is filled with itineraries, from day trips out of the Reno-Tahoe area, to longer excursions on the Loneliest Road in America and the Extraterrestrial Highway. Those looking for inspiration will want to take a look at the guide's photo pages: Nevada travelers sharing their experiences at our ghost towns, hot springs, museums and wide open spaces. Information on the state's special events, from the National Championship Air Races in Reno — the last air race of its kind — to the Wrangler National Finals Rodeo in Las Vegas, also can be found here.

There's so much to discover in Nevada. Welcome to our state, and enjoy your adventure!

Sincerely,

Brian Sandoval, Governor

ON THE COVER

Gaze at the night sky over rural Nevada, and you'll see an assemblage of stars like diamonds on a velvet backdrop. To showcase this, TravelNevada organized a photo shoot this fall at Great Basin National Park, home of annual Great Basin Astronomy Festival.

Much of Nevada is rural, miles away from large cities and light pollution. It's here, under clear desert sky, where constellations and the Milky Way command attention.

Great Basin draws astronomers from all over the country with its stargazing opportunities and its annual astronomy festival. The park was designated an International Dark Sky Park in spring 2016 by the International Dark-Sky Association.

Another stargazing destination is Tonopah, a former mining town that produced millions in silver ore during the early 20th century. Today, the skies above Tonopah twinkle brightest: USA Today ranked the town as the nation's top spot for stargazing.

On your next night out in Nevada, don't forget to look up!

Master storyteller Mark Twain lived in Nevada in the 1860s, and some of his exploits in the Silver State made it into the "Roughing It," published in 1872. Now as then, Nevada provides fertile ground for the imagination. Tell us your Nevada story by visiting TravelNevada.com and clicking on the "My Favorites" link. Here, you can log in or create an account. Then, share your Nevada adventures with fellow travelers.

NEVADA: FERTILE GROUND FOR THE IMAGINATION

Tall tales in early Nevada were often the only escape from an exacting life of mining and her ancillary industries. Early Nevadans were so happy to hear a tall tale, because it dragged their troubles away from their thoughts, which is the healthiest thing a body can do. So the Nevada tall tale became an elixir, a cure for whatever ails you, the best medicine on the shelf. I tell many of those old chestnuts today as the Ghost of Mark Twain, and they still work their magic.

Of course the healing power is in the telling, and no printed account of the same story can have an equal effect. But let me give you one example of a harmless little sketch, which, if told with the right emotional slant, will restore an Egyptian mummy to its pristine vigor. I don't mean the oldest and driest of mummies — but the fresher ones.

"We paddled around on logs on the Lake of the Sky, and it was like balloon voyaging, the water was so clear you could count the scales on a cutthroat trout at 80 feet. You would see a building looming out of the water at you, then it would turn into a cathedral, until you realized as you passed over, it was but a boulder, perhaps 20 feet down. But the water was so clear it magnified everything. The water was clearer than the air, and the air was the air that angels breathe.

"No, if there's a happier life than the life we led on our timber ranch at Lake Tahoe for those two or three weeks, it must be the sort of life which I have not read of in books. We did not see another human, nor hear anything but the sound of the waves, the sighing of the pine, and now and then the far-off thunder of an avalanche. The eye suffered but one grief, that it must close sometimes in sleep. It was a veritable habitation with the gods. No, if Lake Tahoe doesn't cure whatever ails you, I'll bury you at my own expense."

NEVADA CONTINUES TO GROW AND CHANGE

Las Vegas continually reinvents itself with new resorts and entertainment attractions, and 2017 is no different. That dynamic growth is echoed throughout the Silver State from Minden to Elko. Here's a look at some recent projects in Nevada.

LAS VEGAS

Gold Coast Hotel & Casino in Las Vegas opened Cornerstone — a Classic American Steakhouse in August. The new restaurant is part of a larger renovation project that included upgrades in the casino and convention rooms.

THE MARVEL AVENGERS S.T.A.T.I.O.N.

ALIBI ALE WORKS

Marvel's Avengers S.T.A.T.I.O.N. (Scientific Training and Tactical Intelligence Operative Network), an immersive and educational experience that brings visitors into the superhero world of the Avengers, opened in June 2016 at Treasure Island Hotel and Casino on the Las Vegas Strip. The attraction allows guests to engage with Marvel characters such as the Hulk, Captain America, Thor, Iron Man and other Avengers icons. Original props and costumes from the Marvel films round out the experience.

Professional hockey comes to Las Vegas in 2017 with a franchise, the Vegas Golden Knights. The addition of the Las Vegas franchise, which boosts the National Hockey League roster to 31 teams, was announced in June 2016. The team will play at the new T-Mobile Arena, which opened in 2016 in the space between New York New York Hotel & Casino and the Monte Carlo Resort and Casino, just off the Las Vegas Strip. This is Las Vegas' first major professional sports league team.

The Pool at the Plaza opened in July 2016 at the Plaza Hotel Casino in downtown Las Vegas. The renovation project resulted in a 70,000-square-foot pool deck sporting a "retro Palm Springs meets classic downtown Las Vegas" look and feel, with a wet deck and lily-pad daybeds, among other amenities. The project also included new pickleball courts and refurbished adjacent tennis and basketball courts.

Seven Magic Mountains, a large-scale outdoor sculpture by Swiss artist Ugo Rondinone, opened May 2016 on the southern end of Las Vegas Boulevard along Interstate 15. The work, which will be on display for two years, consists of seven individual towers made of fluorescent boulders standing 30 to 35 feet tall. The artwork extends Rondoni's long-running interest in natural phenomena and their reformulation in art, according to the Nevada Museum of Art, one of the sponsors of the piece.

TopGolf Las Vegas, a golf-entertainment venue behind the MGM Grand resort on the Las Vegas Strip, opened in May 2016. The four-story facility has 108-climate-controlled hitting bays as well as interactive golf games that can be enjoyed by people all ages and skill levels. TopGolf also has a concert venue, five bars, two pools, a Callaway fitting studio, a retail shop and more.

Reno 1868 FC is the first-ever major league team to call Reno home. The soccer team will play its first match in Reno in February 2017 at the Greater Nevada Field in downtown Reno. The field is also home to minor league baseball team the Reno Aces.

NEVADA AT LARGE

Craft brewery Alibi Ale Works opened recently in the mountain town of Incline Village, on the north shore of Lake Tahoe. The brewery's lineup is balanced between traditional European styles, "hop-forward" American beers and innovative one-offs.

Bently Heritage distillery plans to open in 2017 in Minden, about 48 miles/77 km south of Reno, in a former flour mill. The estate distillery plans to produce single-malt whiskeys, gin, brandies and liqueurs from grains grown on the Bently Ranch, using water from a natural aquifer at the foot of the Lake Tahoe basin.

Heavenly Mountain Resort completed developments to its Epic Discovery Park at the top of its gondola located near Stateline in 2016. Mostly open in the summer, the attractions include the new Ridge Rider Mountain Coaster, the Skyway Canopy Tour and the Summit Expedition 4X4 Mountain Tour. The new activities complement multiple other attractions at Epic Discovery Park, including zip lines and ropes courses.

The Lodge at Edgewood Tahoe, a 169,000-square foot, 154-room hotel, is set to open in June 2017 at Edgewood Tahoe golf course in Stateline. Edgewood, located on the shore of Lake Tahoe and home of the annual American Century Celebrity Golf Championship, steps it up with the new lodge, which also will have a health spa, a restaurant and bar, as well as a conference and event center.

Ramada opened in Elko, taking over the old Stockmen's Hotel and Casino, in July 2016. The turnover involved a remodel of all 133 rooms on the property, which has been open since 1944.

Ruby Mountain Heli-Experience, a helicopter skiing outfitter in Elko, is set to open the 10,000-square-foot Ruby 360 Lodge in January. Located in the Ruby Mountains, the two-story Ruby 360 Lodge will have 10 bedrooms, 12 bathrooms and will serve as the base for helicopter skiing January to April. Off-season, Ruby 360 Lodge can be reserved for weddings, parties and other events.

SILVER STATE VIEWFINDER

The perfect portrait, sweeping landscape or lively candid shot is just a click away in Nevada. From rustic structures in ghost towns to ancient rock art, there are plenty of subjects for shutterbugs to ponder. Capture an unexpected lush mountain meadow in Jarbidge or the solitude of the Loneliest Road in America. Take the classic tourist portrait in front of the Hoover Dam, or a dramatic shot at Lake Tahoe. Here are a few suggestions to get you started:

HOOVER DAM IN BOULDER CITY:

Built in the 1930s to harness the power of the Colorado River, the Hoover Dam today is still considered an engineering marvel.

LONELIEST ROAD IN AMERICA:

So named in a 1986 Life Magazine article, U.S. 50 across Nevada is a blank canvas for your creative outlet.

Tip: Watch for vehicles! It may be the Loneliest Road in America, but it's still a road.

BONZAI ROCK AT LAKE TAHOE:

About one mile south of Sand Harbor in Incline Village is Bonzai Rock, a photo favorite.

Lighting tip: Shooting the rock from the shore, you will be facing west. You may want to go early in the morning or late in the evening for dramatic lighting.

GOLD POINT:

About an hour's drive southwest of Tonopah is Gold Point, one of many ghost towns dotting Nevada's desert landscape.

Tip: When shooting Nevada's dark skies, shoot with a full-frame DSLR. There are always environmental/situational factors you'll have to react to, but a good place to start is using a high ISO, like 3200, and dropping your aperture to its lowest setting.

JARBIDGE:

Tucked into the northeastern corner of Nevada is the picturesque mountain community of Jarbidge and the surrounding Jarbidge Wilderness, part of the Humboldt-Toiyabe National Forest.

Tip: Plan a summer adventure if you're interested in capturing some of the stunning Jarbidge Wilderness Area; it's so remote that roads are often snowed in until July, and only remain clear through the summer and early fall.

ANCIENT ROCK ART:

Petroglyphs and pictographs — ancient rock art — can be found throughout Nevada. Created by people thousands of years ago, this artwork is sacred to American Indians and provides a fascinating look into the past.

Tip: Valley of Fire State Park in Overton has many petroglyphs; the one in this photo was taken near the beginning of the trailhead at Mouse's Tank. Experts say it's unusual because it's one of the only examples of human interaction or hand-holding.

LET'S FACE IT. NEVADA IS BASICALLY ONE VAST PLAYGROUND.

From sandstone to fresh powder, dirt to open road...

Nevada boasts a limitless supply of routes, slopes, trails and adventures.

GET OUT HERE AND EXPLORE.

GOLDSTRIKE HOT SPRING

Nevada is a big state — the seventh biggest, actually — full of wide-open terrain and mazes of highways. If you're wondering where to start, this guide can help you do that, and help you create that next amazing memory.

The following pages are filled with road-trip routes and ideas. Maybe ghost towns pique your curiosity and you want to find the most photogenic ruins. Perhaps you're looking for a quiet respite in one of Nevada's 23 state parks. We can guide you to those gems as well.

In these pages, you'll find itineraries and vacation inspirations, but they're just suggestions to get you started on your way. Take them and make them your own. Remember, it's about the journey, not the destination.

DAY 1: Pyramid Lake, 50 miles (80 km) from Reno

DAY 2: Virginia City, 26 miles (42 km) from Reno

DAY 3: Carson City and Carson Valley, 31 and 46 miles (50 and 74 km) from Reno

DAY 4: Lake Tahoe, 37 miles (60 km) from Reno

BASE CAMP: RENO

Arrive in Reno by plane, train or automobile and get ready for day-trip adventures to desert and mountain lakes and an Old West mining town.

DAY 1: PYRAMID LAKE

Pyramid Lake is a vast desert lake within the Pyramid Lake Paiute Tribe Reservation. Pyramid Lake Scenic Byway, on the southwest side of the lake, is the only national scenic byway completely within an American Indian reservation. To the northwest is the Dunn Fish Hatchery in Sutcliffe; tours are available in the spring. On the southern end of the lake is the Pyramid Lake Paiute Tribe Visitors Center in Nixon. Viewable from the shore is Anaho Island, home to one of the largest colonies of American white pelicans in the United States.

DAY 2: VIRGINIA CITY

Step back in time — about 150 years — when you enter Virginia City. Wooden sidewalks, saloons, Mark Twain artifacts, and a whole lot of fun await in this town, which was featured in the TV series “Bonanza.” A narrated trolley tour is the best way to learn the history of the town before spending the day shopping, taking old-fashioned photos and sidling up to a genu-wine saloon bar. The historical V&T Railroad offers excursion rides from May through October.

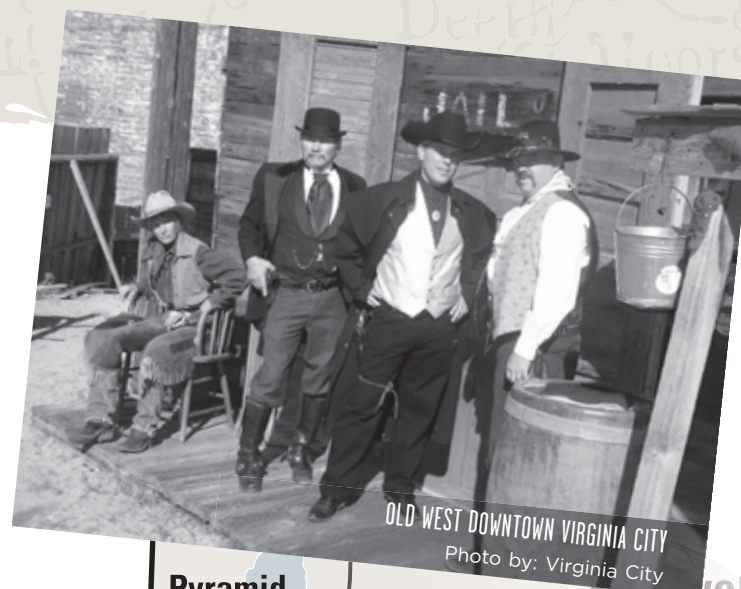

PYRAMID LAKE

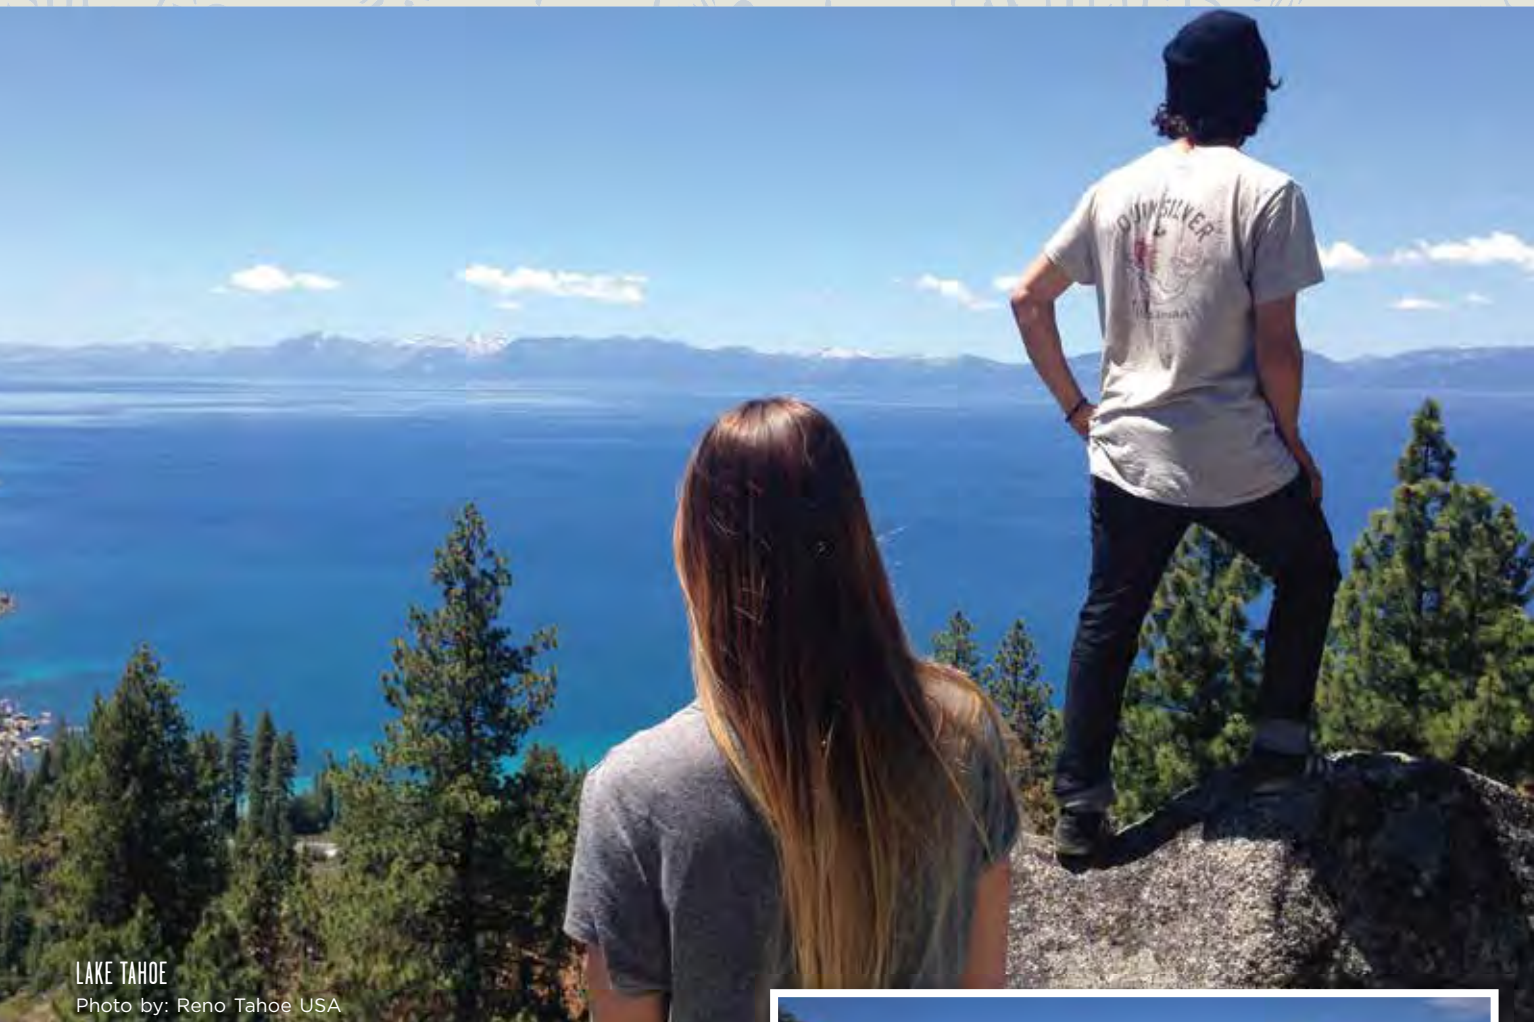

DAY 3: CARSON CITY, CARSON VALLEY

Carson City, the state capital, makes for an easy day trip from the Biggest Little City. Tour the Capitol building, the Nevada State Museum, and the Nevada State Railroad Museum, which often runs diesel or steam trains on weekends and some holidays from May to December. Those interested in the city's history may want to take the Kit Carson Walking Tour, a self-guided walk through the historic district. Just south of Carson City are the towns of Genoa, Minden and Gardnerville in the Carson Valley. These bucolic communities are marked by ranches, antique shops and Victorian homes. Check out the Corley Ranch in October for the Pumpkin Patch Harvest Festival or visit Jacobs Family Berry Farm from mid-summer to early fall for fresh produce. Learn more at the Carson Valley Museum and Cultural Center, or plan ahead to visit the Dangberg Home Ranch Historic Park, accessible by guided tour. Don't forget to check out the tiny community of Genoa, home of Nevada's oldest thirst parlor, Genoa Bar, and Mormon Station State Historic Park.

DAY 4: LAKE TAHOE

Sand Harbor State Park is a popular destination on the north shore of Lake Tahoe during the summer months. It is home to the annual Lake Tahoe Shakespeare Festival and is one of the best beach and swimming stretches at the lake. Nearby Incline Village is where you'll find dining, hotels, and Diamond Peak Ski Resort, which boasts up-close views of the lake. On the south shore, you'll find towering casino-resorts and late-night entertainment. Zephyr Cove Resort is popular in the summer months for its boat rentals, beach access, and paddlewheel boat cruises. Heavenly Mountain Resort spans the Nevada-California border and offers year-round mountaintop activities and a variety of dining, shopping and entertainment at its base village.

BIKE, HIKE AND MORE AT LAKE TAHOE

Lake Tahoe is just 36 miles (58 km) from Reno, offering one of the country's most scenic playgrounds for water sports, hiking, mountain biking, skiing and more. Lake Tahoe's two main destinations - North Shore and South Shore - are easily accessible from Reno and Carson City, placing you minutes away from year-round activity and entertainment.

NORTH SHORE — 36 MILES (58 KM) FROM RENO VIA INTERSTATE 580 AND NEVADA STATE ROUTE 431

The North Shore is anchored by Incline Village, an upscale mountain hamlet boasting its own ski resort, Diamond Peak; two golf courses; and sunny stretches of sandy beach. Visitors staying at the Hyatt Regency Lake Tahoe in Incline Village can rent kayaks and other water toys from the hotel's private beach. In the summer, the Lake Tahoe Shakespeare Festival performs at Sand Harbor State Park. Plan a day of outdoor adventure on the North Lake Tahoe Ale Trail, which links water and land trails to breweries and pubs.

SOUTH SHORE — 59 MILES (95 KM) FROM RENO VIA INTERSTATE 580 AND U.S. 50

Lake Tahoe's South Shore is perhaps best known for the towering casinos of Stateline, Edgewood Tahoe golf course (home of the American Century Celebrity Golf Championship), and the bustling village at Heavenly Mountain Resort. Zephyr Cove is a hot spot for renting boats, kayaks, and stand-up paddle boards, and is also the launch point for the M.S. Dixie II, a Southern-style paddlewheel boat that runs sightseeing excursions.

RENO TO THE BLACK ROCK DESERT

The spirit of Burning Man can be found year-round in northern Nevada. This route will take you on the same path that “Burners” travel every August for the Burning Man event in the Black Rock Desert, and beyond.

DAY 1: RENO

In Reno, Burners are keeping the Burning Man magic alive all over the city. Take a day to explore boutiques, art from the playa, and the creative corners of the Biggest Little City where Reno-based Burners thrive.

BURNER BOUTIQUES

Reno is home to many local businesses that have a little extra Burner flair. Pop in to these shops while exploring MidTown, Reno’s hippest neighborhood.

THE GENERATOR COMMUNITY ART AND BUILDERS SPACE

The Generator is an inclusive art space for anyone who wants to make art and be a part of a creative community. This collaborative art space operates under the same creative community ethic outlined in Burning Man’s Ten Principles. The Generator is best known for the large projects people create there for display (and participation) at Burning Man. The best part: you don’t have to be an artist to browse through the working gallery. The Generator is open from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday.

THE MORRIS BURNER HOTEL AND RENO BREWERY DISTRICT

The Morris Burner Hotel is part hostel, part art gallery. It is open to everyone, but you must become a member to rest your head here. Never fear, a monthly membership is only $20. If you've made other hotel arrangements, this place is still worth checking out. Free guided tours are given, and no reservation is required. Just stop by and people will be happy to show you around and answer questions. While in the area, check out the new craft breweries on Fourth Street along with the Reno Bike Project, a community bike shop that fixes up old bikes for Burning Man. continued

DAY 1: Reno, The Generator, Morris Burner Hotel, post-playa art; overnight in Reno

DAY 2: Pyramid Lake; overnight in Sutcliffe

DAY 3: Gerlach, Planet X Pottery, Guru Road; overnight in Gerlach

ITINERARIES: BURNER BYWAY

POST-PLAYA ART TOUR

Some of the art from Burning Man has a permanent home in Reno. You'll find sculptures from the playa, but also murals and other creative pieces, while strolling along the Reno Riverwalk and at the plaza outside the Nevada Museum of Art.

JUB JUB'S THIRST PARLOR

Jub Jub's Thirst Parlor is a perfect place to whet your whistle while getting in the Burning Man spirit. The owners are Burners themselves and they have a Jub Jub's theme camp at Burning Man. You'll meet some characters in this dive bar that will leave you with some pretty great stories to tell.

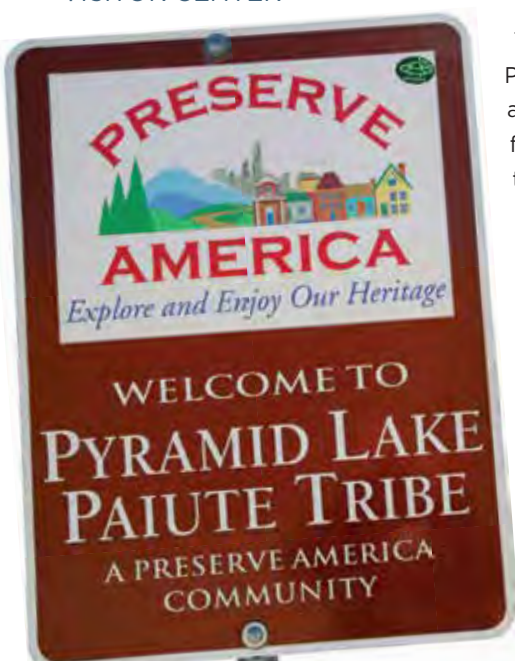

DAY 2: PYRAMID LAKE

Pyramid Lake is nestled in the desert mountains northeast of Reno, and is a must-see while experiencing the Burner Byway.

HIGHWAY VIEWPOINT

Many people drive to Pyramid Lake from Reno taking Interstate 80 east to Nevada state Route 445 (Pyramid Way). Once at the highway viewpoint (the intersection of Nevada state routes 445 and 446), get out of the car and don't forget the camera. From this spot, spectacular tufa deposits are visible as well as the lake's eponymous pyramid-shaped island.

PYRAMID LAKE PAIUTE TRIBE MUSEUM AND VISITOR CENTER

The Pyramid Lake Paiute Tribe Museum and Visitor Center features exhibits on the tribe's history and culture. Here, visitors can learn why the Paiute people consider this entire area to be sacred. Visitors can purchase camping, boating and fishing permits at the center. Hours of operation are from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Monday through Friday, and during the summer, from 10 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Saturdays.

TAKE A TOUR OF THE PYRAMID LAKE FISHERIES

This is a great place to learn about fish husbandry and how the fisheries help to ensure high environmental standards for the lake's natural resources. The best time to tour the hatcheries is during spawning season, March through May; they are closed for tours from December to March. To schedule a tour, call the administration office at 775-476- 0500.

DAY 3: GERLACH

The town's slogan is, "Where the pavement ends, and the West begins," and that couldn't be more fitting. Gerlach is the last place to get gas before heading into the Black Rock Desert, but there are a few other reasons to hang around Main Street.

BRUNO'S COUNTRY CLUB

Stop in at Bruno's Country Club for the famous ravioli. They also have homemade pies and an ice cream machine, which makes for a perfect treat on hot days.

FRIENDS OF BLACK ROCK/HIGH ROCK

The Friends of Black Rock/High Rock office is the place to learn about the area and pick up last-minute supplies. The staff here are the area experts and can provide helpful tips and tricks to exploring the Black Rock High Rock National Conservation Area. Find them at 320 Main St. or blackrockdesert.org.

GURU ROAD

No trip to Gerlach is complete without a visit to Guru Road. Built by DeWayne "Doobie" Williams in the late '70s through the early '90s, this mile-long dirt road corridor can be found just two miles north of Gerlach. Using local stone and other found objects, Williams crafted tributes to family, friends, and local residents. Words of wisdom line the road and there are several large pieces, including a weather station, a tribute to Elvis, Aphrodite, and the Desert Broadcast System. Guru Road is just north of town on County Road 34 (on the left).

PLANET X POTTERY

Planet X, 28 miles from Gerlach, started with just the remnants of an old homestead on the Emigrant Trail. Today, it is a working pottery studio and has four show galleries, along with an outdoor bar and picnic area.

BLACK ROCK DESERT/HIGH ROCK CANYON EMIGRANT TRAILS NATIONAL CONSERVATION AREA

The annual Burning Man festival takes place on the playa at the Black Rock Desert, but the area offers much to explore at other times of the year. Wagon ruts, historic inscriptions and a wilderness landscape largely unchanged since the days of the pioneers are found in the Black Rock-High Rock Region of northwestern Nevada.

THE LONELIEST ROAD IN AMERICA: U.S. HIGHWAY 50 FROM FERNLEY TO ELY

Drive The Loneliest Road in America, the stretch of U.S. 50 that traverses Nevada, and you'll find more than peace and quiet. There's a burger-eating challenge, a hot springs to dip into, and the chance to mine garnets along the way. Make a game of it: Grab a copy of the Official Highway 50 Survival Guide and get it stamped in the communities on the route. Finish your travels with a side trip to Great Basin National Park, where you can tour Lehman Caves or hike up 13,063-foot Wheeler Peak.

DAY 1: FERNLEY TO AUSTIN

Start your trip in the small community of Fernley, about 35 miles east of Reno. Stock up on road trip supplies, get your Official Highway 50 Survival Guide stamped at the Fernley Chamber of Commerce, and hit the road.

The next town you'll see is Fallon, an agricultural community known for such small farms as Lattin Farms (open to the public). Check out Churchill Vineyards, one of four vineyards in Nevada, and its sister property Frey Ranch Distillery, one of only two grain-to-glass distilleries in the country. Bird watchers may want to make a side trip to Stillwater National Wildlife Refuge, about 12 miles (19 km) from Fallon on Nevada state Route 116. Migrating waterfowl and shorebirds traveling the Pacific Flyway stop at Stillwater, an internationally recognized area for bird watching.

About seven miles (11 km) east of Fallon on the Loneliest Road is Grimes Point Archeological Area, where you can see petroglyphs (ancient rock art) along a short interpretive trail. Grimes Point is about 1.5 miles (2.4 km) from Hidden Cave, a four-millennia-old American Indian storage site that can be visited via twice-monthly guided tours offered by the Churchill County Museum.

285 MILES/457 KM, PLUS SIDE TRIPS TO GREAT BASIN NATIONAL PARK AND OTHER ATTRACTIONS

DAY 1: Fernley, Fallon, Frey Ranch Distillery, Stillwater National Wildlife Refuge, Grimes Point, Sand Mountain, Shoe Tree; overnight in Austin

DAY 2: Hickison Petroglyphs, hot springs, Eureka, Garnet Hill, Nevada Northern Railway; overnight in Ely

DAY 3: Great Basin National Park

HIGHWAY 50 SIGN NEAR AUSTIN

Continue eastward, and in about 20 miles (32 km) you'll hit Sand Mountain Recreation Area, a 600-foot-high sand dune created by geological forces over several millennia. Today, the area is popular with off-road enthusiasts and photographers. More than a century ago, this area was a stop on the Pony Express route, a horseback mail service in operation from 1860 to 1861. The Loneliest Road roughly follows the path of the Pony Express, and historical markers here, as well as at Cold Springs (farther east), represent the former way stations.

From Sand Mountain, it's about 25 miles (40 km) to Middlegate Station, a small outpost on the south side of the roadway. Come hungry. This is the home of the Monster Burger: more than a pound of ground beef stacked inside a sourdough roll sliced into thirds and garnished with lettuce, onion, cheese and sometimes jalapeno peppers, served with a pile of French fries. Eat it all, and you get an "I Ate the Monster" t-shirt. Only the hungriest are victorious.

Nevada has its share of quirky roadside attractions, and one of them is about one mile east of Middlegate, on the north side of the highway. The Shoe Tree is a giant cottonwood bedecked with hundreds of shoes dangling from its branches. continued

MIDDLEGATE

From here, it's another 65 miles (104 km) to the mining town of Austin and a warm bed for the night.

Now you're on the road to the mining town of Ely, home of the steam-powered Ghost Train. But just west of town, before you hit Ely proper, is Garnet Hill, a public rock-hounding area

DAY 2: AUSTIN TO ELY

Wake up in Austin, population 192. An outdoor visitors' center on the Loneliest Road (Main Street) has interpretive panels telling the story of the community's origins in 1862. Be sure to check out Stokes Castle on the western end of town, an 1890s-era stone structure built as a summer home for Anson Phelps Stokes, one of the area's silver mine investors.

Mountain bikers may want to spend some extra time in Austin exploring area trails, then take a short detour to Spencer Hot Springs, about 20 miles (32 km) southeast of Austin (ask a local for specific directions). Here, you can soak in a tub or below-ground pool of naturally heated water.

From Austin, continue east on the Loneliest Road for about 24 miles (39 km) to the Hickison Petroglyph Recreation Area. If you didn't get a chance to stop at Grimes Point, here's another chance to see some of the ancient rock art carved by the area's indigenous people.

Continue another 46 miles (74 km) to Eureka, a mining town just seeping with Old West charm. Stop here to check out the historical Eureka Opera House, a beautifully restored 1880s-era building; and the Eureka Sentinel Museum, housed in the 1879 Eureka Sentinel Newspaper Building.

STOKES CASTLE

where you can look for garnets embedded in rock and take them home. Once you've settled into your lodging in Ely, check out the Ghost Train — also known as the Nevada Northern Railway — a historical train, depot, and rail yard. Also check out Renaissance Village, a section of restored homes that reflect the various ethnic groups that came to the Ely area, and view the town's many murals depicting regional history.

DAY 3: SIDE TRIP TO GREAT BASIN NATIONAL PARK IN BAKER AND WARD CHARCOAL OVENS

From Ely, it's 67 miles (108 km) to Great Basin National Park, one the country's most beautiful and most isolated parks. Here, you can take a guided tour of Lehman Caves, a marble cave ornately decorated with stalactites, stalagmites and more than 300 rare shield formations; and hike up Wheeler Peak (one of the tallest peaks in Nevada). A 12-mile (19 km) scenic drive takes you to the Wheeler Peak campground, where you can hike to see bristlecone pines, 5,000-year-old trees believed to be the oldest living things on earth.

Other suggested side trips include Ward Charcoal Ovens State Historic Park and Cave Lake State Park. Ward Charcoal Ovens, about 20 miles (32 km) south of Ely, is notable for its six beehive-shaped ovens, all about 30 feet (nine meters) tall, where charcoal was made from 1876 to 1876. Cave Lake, about 14 miles (23 km) southeast of Ely, draws people for fishing, hiking and oddball events, such as the annual Great Bathtub Races in June.

LAMOILLE CANYON

RUBIES ROUTE: EXPLORE SCENIC BYWAYS IN NEVADA'S RUBY MOUNTAINS

The northeastern Nevada city of Elko is your base camp when exploring the Ruby Mountains, the perfect playground for hiking, fishing and photography. One of the jewels of the Humboldt-Toiyabe National Forest, the Ruby Mountains are a steep and rugged range capped by the 11,387-foot (3,470-meter) Ruby Dome. In winter, many of the roads at higher elevation are closed due to snow, so plan your trip accordingly.

DAY 1: ELKO TO LAMOILLE CANYON

Start your trip in Elko, famous for its cowboy and ranching traditions, and home to the Western Folklife Center, which presents the annual National Cowboy Poetry Gathering every January. Be sure to check out the Western Folklife Center office, which has the Wiegand Gallery, featuring Western-themed exhibits; a 20-seat black-box theater, where you can watch a 16-minute video about cowboy song; and a gift shop. Head across the street to J.M. Capriola Co., a Western-wear business dating back to the 1920s, to see saddles being made in the store's small, second-story workshop.

Head out of town on Nevada state Route 227 (Lamoille Highway). That takes you to Lamoille Canyon Scenic Byway. There are places to pull your vehicle over on the drive, including one that leads to an interpretive trail that passes by a small pond and beaver dam.

The scenic drive ends at 8,800 feet (2,438 meters), and this upper part of Lamoille Canyon Scenic Byway is closed in winter due to snow. During the more temperate seasons, hikers can access several trails from the terminus of the Lamoille Canyon Scenic Byway, including trails to Lamoille Lake and the Ruby Crest Trail.

On the drive back to Elko, you may want to take the one-mile detour into the tiny community of Lamoille, home of the picturesque Lamoille Presbyterian Church, a popular subject for photographers.

LAMOILLE PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

SNAPSHOT:

DAY 1: From Elko to Lamoille Canyon Scenic Byway, 22 miles (35 km) (one way), plus another 12 miles (19 km) on Lamoille Canyon Scenic Byway

DAY 2: From Elko to Angel Lake, 54 miles (87 km) one way

DAY 2: ELKO TO ANGEL LAKE

Angel Lake, a mountain lake in the East Humboldt Range just north of the Rubies and also part of the Humboldt Toiyabe National Forest, is your goal today.

From Elko, head east on Interstate 80 about 48 miles (77 km) to the junction with state Route 231 (Angel Lake Road). This paved road winds up the east side of the East Humboldt Range before ending at the Angel Lake Recreation Area. At 8,500 feet (2,591 meters), this area is closed during the winter due to snow.

When the road is clear, schedule time to explore Angel Lake, a natural body of water that was dammed in 1900 to create an irrigation system still in use today. Here, you'll find trailheads to Smith Lake and Winchell Lake, as well as a picnic area, restrooms and a campground. Keep an eye out for bighorn sheep, mountain goats, mule deer and pronghorn antelope.

ANGEL LAKE NEAR WELLS

THE STAR HOTEL, ELKO

INTERSTATE 80 FROM RENO TO ELKO

At first glance, Interstate 80 through Nevada appears to be one of those major east-west freeways a traveler takes to get to his destination in a hurry. It's so much more than that. Interstate 80 roughly follows the route of the California Trail used by emigrants in the mid-1800s, as well as the path of the First Transcontinental Railroad. Travel this route and visit a former archaeological site, ghost towns and the Western Folklife Center in Elko, among other things. Explore the history of the American West at such museums as the California Trail Interpretive Center in Elko or the Humboldt Museum in Winnemucca. If time allows, take an extra day to explore the Ruby Mountains on the eastern end of the state.

DAY 1: RENO TO WINNEMUCCA

Grab sunscreen, your sweetie and sturdy walking shoes: Today you'll "lock your love" in the agricultural/ranching community of Lovelock, detour off Interstate 80 to explore the Lovelock Cave, and visit the ghost town of Unionville, where American author Mark Twain once prospected for gold.

From Reno, head east on Interstate 80 to Lovelock.

Lovelock got its start in the mid-19th century when pioneers on the California Trail stopped for water and grass for their animals. Today, visitors can check out the Marzen House Museum and the Pershing County Courthouse. It's here on the courthouse grounds where you can lock your love. Engrave a lock with your name and that of your love, lock it onto the chain on the courthouse grounds and throw away the key. Bam! Your love is locked.

Head south of Lovelock (about 20 miles/32 km) to see Lovelock Cave, a former archaeological site now managed by the federal Bureau of Land Management. Before embarking on this detour, you may want to download the BLM's Lovelock Cave Backcountry Byway brochure, which has information on the area's history, geology and environment, as well as a map that will get you from the city of Lovelock to the cave. Note: a large portion of the road to Lovelock Cave is gravel and dirt.

After exploring the Lovelock Cave, head back to I-80 and continue east. If time allows, take a detour to Unionville, population 14, a former mining town where Mark Twain briefly prospected in the early 1860s. From I-80 East, take Nevada state Route 400 south (Exit 149) about 31 miles/50 km to Unionville. There are a few residents in this "ghost" town, including the proprietor of the Old Pioneer Garden B&B Guest Ranch. Call it a night here, or head back to I-80 and east to Winnemucca, another 50 miles/80 km.

DAY 2: WINNEMUCCA TO ELKO

Named after a 19th-century Northern Paiute Indian chief, the city of Winnemucca today primarily attracts visitors with recreational opportunities and such events as the Ranch Hand Rodeo in March and the Run-A-Mucca Motorcycle Rally in May. Check out Winnemucca's history and more at the Humboldt Museum.

SNAPSHOT:

396 MILES/637 KM, PLUS SIDE
TRIPS TO OTHER ATTRACTIONS

DAY 1: Lovelock, Unionville, Winnemucca

DAY 2: California Trail Interpretive
Center, Elko

From Winnemucca, continue east on I-80. You'll pass the small communities of Battle Mountain and Carlin before seeing exit 292, just before Elko. Take this exit to see the California Trail Interpretive Center, which tells the story of the 19th-century pioneers who traveled the California Trail in search of gold and adventure.

From the California Trail Interpretive Center, it's a short (10 mile/16 km) drive on I-80 East to the mining/ranching community of Elko. Elko is the home of the Western Folklife Center, which runs the annual National Cowboy Poetry Gathering in January. Year-round, you can visit the Western Folklife Center and watch a short video "Why the Cowboy Sings." Fans of the American West also will want to check out J.M. Capriola, a western-wear store where saddles are made, and the Northeastern Nevada Museum, which has an extensive collection of work by writer/artist Will James, who chronicled cowboy life in the early 20th century.

If you have time to spend in Elko, you may want to explore the Ruby Mountains, a range just east of Elko that is part of the Humboldt-Toiyabe National Forest. For details on scenic byways inside the Rubies, see the Rubies Route itinerary on pages 30-31.

Suggested dining spot: The Star Hotel in Elko. This is an authentic historical Basque restaurant, one of a handful found in northern Nevada. Expect hearty portions of steaks and chops served family-style with beans, pasta, French fries and salad. This calorie-rich meal is similar to those served up to Basque immigrants in the late 19th and early 20th centuries, many of whom worked as sheepherders and needed hearty meals to support strenuous physical labor. continued

AFTER ELKO

Continuing east: Continue east on I-80. Nevada stops along the way include the town of Wells, home of the Trail of the 49ers Interpretive Center and more; as well as the community of West Wendover on the Nevada-Utah border. Don't forget to take a picture with Wendover Will, a landmark neon sign dating back to 1952.

Backtracking to Reno: Travelers can either backtrack west on I-80, or continue east on I-80 to Wells, then take U.S. 93 south to Ely. Here, you can pick up U.S. 50, also known as the Loneliest Road in America, westbound back to Reno. For details on the Loneliest Road, see the itinerary on pages 26-29.

BASE CAMP: LAS VEGAS

Las Vegas is the perfect base camp from which to explore such treasures as the Hoover Dam, Valley of Fire State Park and Red Rock Canyon National Conservation Area.

DAY 1: RED ROCK CANYON, GOODSPRINGS

Red Rock Canyon National Conservation Area is popular for hiking, bicycling and rock climbing. A visitors' center explains the area's geologic and natural history, and a 13-mile (21-km) scenic drive offers several trailheads. Red Rock Canyon NCA also encompasses Bonnie Springs Ranch, a family-friendly destination with horseback rides and more, and Spring Mountain Ranch State Park.

Finish the day with a trip to Goodsprings, southeast of Red Rock Canyon. The town's claim to fame is the Pioneer Saloon, where, in 1942, actor Clark Cable waited for three days to hear the fate of his wife, Carole Lombard, who had died in a nearby plane crash.

DAY 2: LAUGHLIN

Hotel-resorts line the Colorado River in this small gaming town south of Las Vegas close to the California and Arizona borders. Lounge by the river, rent boats or Jet Skis, or explore such area sites as Big Bend of the Colorado State Recreation Area, Black Mountains, and Lake Mohave.

SNAPSHOT:

DAY 1: Red Rock Canyon and Goodsprings, 65 miles (105 km) from Las Vegas

DAY 2: Laughlin, 102 miles (165 km) south of Las Vegas

DAY 3: Boulder City, Hoover Dam and Lake Mead, 26 miles (42 km) from Las Vegas

DAY 4: Valley of Fire and Lost City Museum, 52 miles (84 km) from Las Vegas

DAY 5: Death Valley National Park, 120 miles (193 km) from Las Vegas

DAY 3: BOULDER CITY, HOOVER DAM, LAKE MEAD

Constructed in the 1930s to house workers building the Hoover Dam, Boulder City is one of two Nevada towns where gaming is illegal. The town is home to the Nevada State Railroad Museum in Boulder City and the Nevada Southern Railway, which offers excursion rides. Hoover Dam, considered one of the country's engineering marvels, is a short drive from downtown Boulder City. Lake Mead, created with the construction of Hoover Dam, is accessible at Boulder Beach

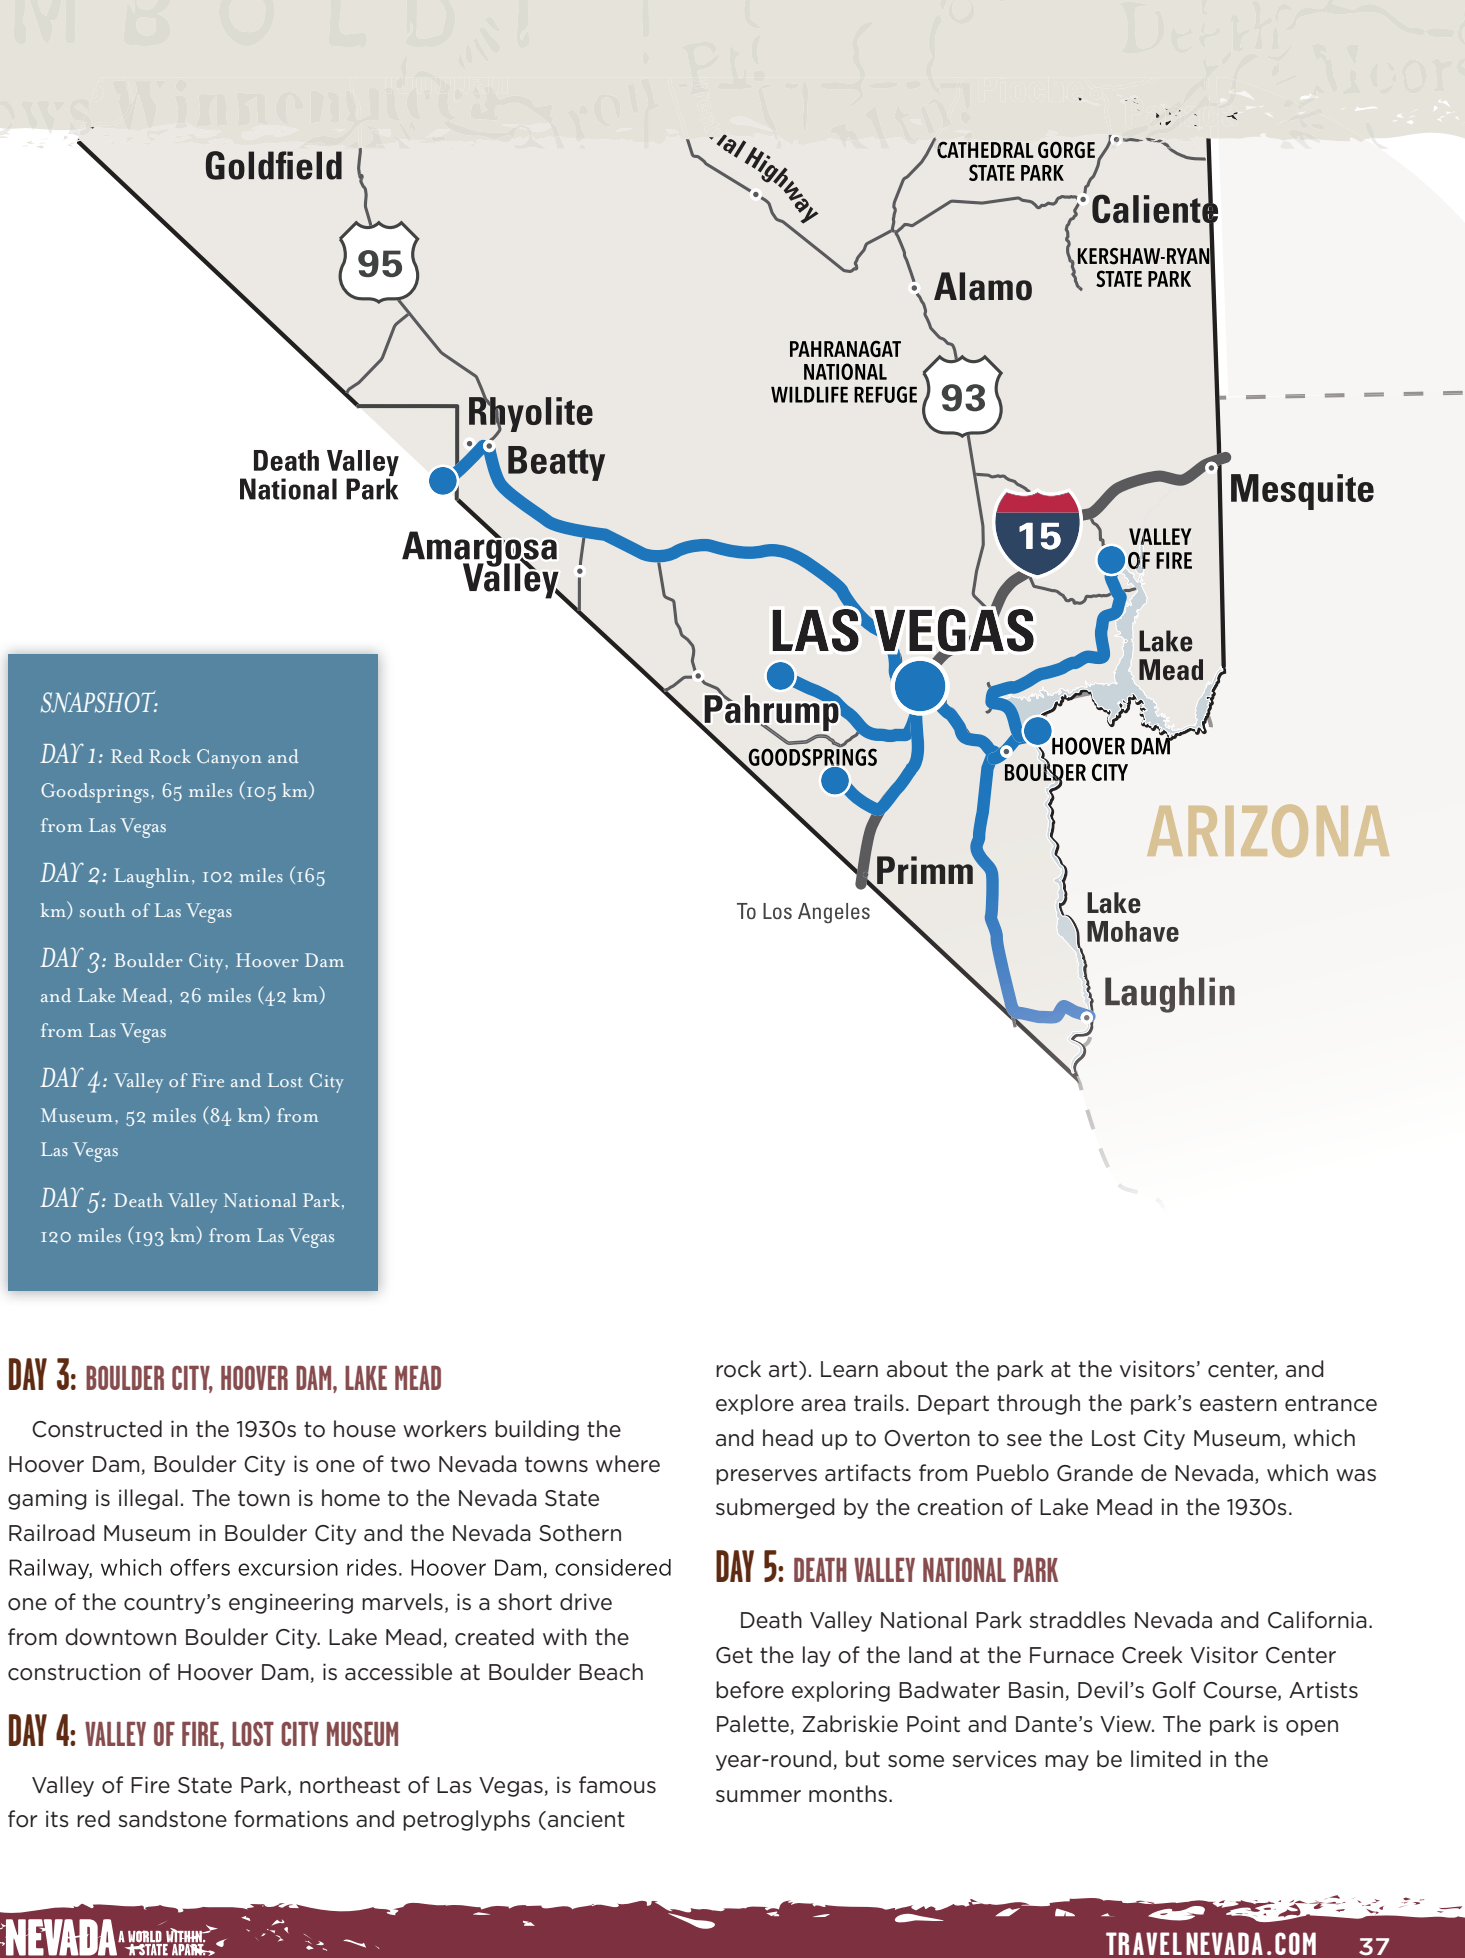

DAY 4: VALLEY OF FIRE, LOST CITY MUSEUM

Valley of Fire State Park, northeast of Las Vegas, is famous for its red sandstone formations and petroglyphs (ancient rock art). Learn about the park at the visitors' center, and explore area trails. Depart through the park's eastern entrance and head up to Overton to see the Lost City Museum, which preserves artifacts from Pueblo Grande de Nevada, which was submerged by the creation of Lake Mead in the 1930s.

DAY 5: DEATH VALLEY NATIONAL PARK

Death Valley National Park straddles Nevada and California. Get the lay of the land at the Furnace Creek Visitor Center before exploring Badwater Basin, Devil's Golf Course, Artists Palette, Zabriskie Point and Dante's View. The park is open year-round, but some services may be limited in the summer months.

CRUISE THE LAS VEGAS STRIP

The Las Vegas Strip draws millions every year with its casinos, entertainment, shopping and dining, and thanks to the profusion of LED light displays and neon signs found there, it's considered a nighttime scenic byway by the Federal Highway Administration.

The 4.5-mile (7.2-km) Las Vegas Strip begins at the intersection of Las Vegas Boulevard and Russell Road and continues north on Las Vegas Boulevard until it intersects with Sahara Avenue.

Start your trip on the Strip a little south of Russell Road, so you can view the iconic "Welcome to Fabulous Las Vegas" sign. There's a parking lot at the sign (accessible from southbound Las Vegas Boulevard) so be sure to stop for a selfie.

The Strip's ever-changing skyline currently includes New York New York, which has a roller coaster snaking through the resort's recreation of the Big Apple; Paris Las Vegas, which sports a 541-foot-tall Eiffel Tower; and the Bellagio, fronted by a lake with water fountains timed to operate in coordination with music and lights. One of the newer attractions is the High Roller, a 550-foot-tall observation wheel directly across from Caesars, with its Greek columns and classic statues. Thrill-seekers may want to make a stop at the Stratosphere, a 1,149-foot tower with amusement rides at the top.

The views you take in today are markedly different from what visitors saw in the early 20th century. The first casinos built in the 1940s were smaller than the monoliths that line the famous byway today, but Las Vegas preserves its rich history in a clutch of compelling, interactive museums just off the Strip. Those include the Nevada State Museum, Las Vegas inside Spring Preserve cultural institution on Valley View Boulevard; the National Atomic Testing Museum on Flamingo Road; and the Mob Museum on Stewart Avenue.

LAS VEGAS STRIP

EXTEND YOUR TRIP:

The intersection of Las Vegas Boulevard and Sahara Avenue is the north end of the official national scenic byway, but you can continue north on the Strip for another 2.9 miles — this is the state of Nevada's North Las Vegas Strip Scenic Byway. Check out the Neon Museum, which chronicles the history of Las Vegas through its neon signs; the Fremont Street Experience, a five-block entertainment district in historical downtown Las Vegas; and Old Las Vegas Mormon Fort State Park.

HACIENDA HORSE AND RIDER

VINTAGE VEGAS LIVES ON IN HISTORICAL BARS, CLASSIC NEON SIGNS AND MUSEUMS

Call it the “Mad Men” effect or simply our human desire to hold onto the past, but for whatever reason, “vintage Las Vegas” is back and hotter than ever.

Downtown Las Vegas exudes retro-funk from the cool neon at the El Cortez — Las Vegas’ longest-running hotel and casino — to the old-fashioned malts, with prices to match, at the 1950s soda fountain of Tiffany’s Café.

Soak up some history with a stroll through two of Las Vegas’ most celebrated museums, the Mob Museum and the Neon Museum. The Mob Museum is housed in the former federal courthouse where mob trials took place. The Neon Museum is an outdoor collection of vintage neon signs spanning many decades of Las Vegas’ casino history.

Stock up on antiques, home furnishings and art at Retro Vegas. You can deck out your home in mid-century décor or find that perfect piece of retro art in this funky shop along Antique Alley southwest of downtown. Other shops include Vintage Vegas Antiques, Glam Factory Vintage, Lost Vegas Antiques, and Sin City Pickers, just to name a few.

One of the best vintage photo ops is at Atomic Liquors, a 1950s bar named for the time when patrons watched atomic blasts far off in the Nevada desert from the store’s roof. You’ll be drinking in good company: the Rat Pack and Smothers Brothers are said to have ended their nights here, and Barbra Streisand even had her own seat, which has been restored and is on display.

Get a taste of the good ol’ days at The Golden Steer, which has served its famous steak dinners to droves of Golden Age celebrities, including Natalie Wood, Nat King Cole, Joe DiMaggio, Elvis Presley and Marilyn Monroe.

The Bootlegger Italian Bistro doesn’t look vintage on the outside — its modernized Tuscan exterior south of McCarran International Airport belies the depth of history found inside its stone façade — but history runs deep here, as evidenced by the walls covered in snapshots of celebrities who have dined on Mama Marie’s authentic Italian fare. Marie’s daughter and restaurant owner, former Nevada Lt. Gov. Lorraine Hunt-Bono, often takes the stage with her showbiz husband, Dennis Bono, to entertain patrons and share a hint of Las Vegas’ glamorous past.

30 YEARS OF SURVIVING “AMERICA’S LONELIEST ROAD”

A HISTORIC HIGHWAY STRETCHING ACROSS
THE MIDDLE OF NEVADA AND PONY EXPRESS TERRITORY

In July 1986, Life magazine described Nevada’s Highway 50 from Ely to Fernley as the “Loneliest Road in America” and recommended that drivers have “survival skills” to travel the route. But Nevadans know it’s also one of the state’s most scenic and historic corridors. This year, we’re celebrating its thirty-year anniversary.

HOW TO BECOME A LONELIEST ROAD SURVIVOR

Anyone who’s ventured across Highway 50 deserves some recognition and we want to make sure you get more than just bragging rights for your achievement. Request a Survival Guide at PonyExpressNevada.com and find out how you can commemorate your journey.

ESCAPE THE LAS VEGAS HEAT ON THE MOUNT CHARLESTON LOOP

Mount Charleston — officially Charleston Peak — reaches to 11,916 feet (3,632 meters), and is part of the Spring Mountains National Recreation area north of Las Vegas. Hiking trails, picnic areas, a new visitors' center and the Lee Canyon ski resort are found in this area. The Mount Charleston loop incorporates three scenic drives — Kyle Canyon Road, Deer Creek Road and Lee Canyon Road — and is 36 miles (58 km) long.

From Las Vegas, take U.S. 95 north. At the intersection of U.S. 95 and Kyle Canyon Road (state Route 157), travel west on Kyle Canyon Road into the mountains, where you'll gain about 3,000 feet in elevation and experience cooler temperatures. Be sure to stop at the Spring Mountains Visitor

Gateway (2525 Kyle Canyon Road), which has a visitor center, trail systems, picnic areas, and more.

Continue on Kyle Canyon Road to Deer Creek Road (state Route 158). High in the Spring Mountain Range, this byway twists and turns past piñon pines and mountain slopes. The North Loop Trailhead, one of the paths up Charleston Peak, is accessible from the west side of Deer Creek Road. Don't forget to stop at Desert View Overlook to take in the sights of the valley below.

Deer Creek Road will intersect with Lee Canyon Road (state Route 156), which you can take east back to U.S. 95. Enjoy more mountain scenery and views. The Sawmill Trailhead is on the north side of the road.

EXPLORE DESERT BEAUTY JUST WEST OF LAS VEGAS ON RED ROCK ROAD

Red Rock Canyon National Conservation Area, 17 miles (27 km) west of the Las Vegas Strip, is easy to access through the 13-mile (21 km) Red Rock Road. This scenic drive begins at the Red Rock National Conservation Area Visitor Center and ends on state Route 159.

Red Rock Road affords views of red sandstone cliffs and limestone bluffs formed millions of years ago. Multiple parking areas along the road provide access to trailheads and picnic areas. Visitors also enjoy off-trail exploring on the sandstone, especially at the Calico I and Calico II areas, which are popular with rock climbers.

Before embarking on the scenic drive, visitors may want to check out the indoor/outdoor exhibits explaining the area's geology, wildlife and recreational opportunities. Entry into Red Rock NCA, which is operated by the Bureau of Land Management, is $7 per car.

EXTEND YOUR TRIP:

Spring Mountain Ranch State Park, a 520-acre oasis kept green by spring water, is about five miles south of Red Rock NCA Visitor Center on Nevada state Route 159. Walking trails pass by pinion-juniper, black brush and other desert plants. The park's centerpiece is the ranch house, once owned by Howard Hughes. Entry into the state park is $9 per car.

ART, ART ON THE RANGE

Nevada's wide-open landscapes have served as inspiration for many artists, from Swiss-born mixed-media artist Ugo Rondinone, the visionary behind the Seven Magic Mountains installation just south of Las Vegas, to the creatives expressing themselves at the International Car Forest of the Last Church in Goldfield. Travel Nevada's U.S. 95 from Las Vegas to Tonopah — the Free Range Art Highway — to see some of the state's interesting outdoor sculptures.

DAY 1: LAS VEGAS TO BEATTY

Start your trip in the heart of downtown Las Vegas and its budding arts district. Thanks to the arts and music festival Life is Beautiful, downtown Las Vegas is now an open-air art gallery. Murals and sculptures are scattered along Fremont East and adjoining neighborhoods. One of the most eye-catching pieces is the praying mantis sculpture at Container Park, a shopping/restaurant/entertainment area. This towering insect originally made its appearance at Burning Man, and if you catch it at night, it periodically breathes fire.

Before leaving Las Vegas, take a detour just south of the Las Vegas Strip to visit Seven Magic Mountains, a colorful, large-scale public artwork featuring seven 30- to 35-foot-high brightly colored totems composed of painted, locally sourced boulders. This sculpture, installed in May 2016, will be on display for the next two years.

After leaving the bright lights of Las Vegas, you'll drive toward the small town of Beatty along U.S. 95. Beatty is about 120 miles (193 km) from Las Vegas, a two-hour drive. Before

DAY 1: Las Vegas to Beatty, with a detour to Seven Magic Mountains sculpture south of Las Vegas your final stop for the day, you'll want to take a quick detour to the Goldwell Open Air Museum and Rhyolite ghost town.

DAY 2: Beatty to Tonopah

Here, you can walk among larger-than-life sculptures and explore the ruins of Rhyolite, once a booming mining community in the early 20th century. Stick around for sunset for some incredible photo opportunities.

Beatty is known as the gateway to Death Valley, but there's more to this little town than meets the eye. Stop at the Happy Burro and order the world-famous chili, and other great eats can be found at KC's Outpost and the Sourdough Saloon. Be sure to have a dollar or two in your wallet so you can add it to the walls of the Sourdough to proclaim your adventure through Beatty. Keep an eye out for the Beatty Cowboys who like to hang out around KC's Outpost — but be careful, they might mix you up with a wily prospector and throw you in (temporary) jail. continued

INTERNATIONAL CAR FOREST OF THE LAST CHURCH

DAY 2: BEATTY TO TONOPAH

From Beatty, it's 67 miles (108 km) to Goldfield, once a booming mining community that is now a living ghost town. On the south end of town, on the right (east side of U.S. 95), you'll find the International Car Forest of the Last Church, a sprawling artistic junkyard of cars, trucks, vans and buses tipped on their noses or stacked on top of each other. Each junked car has been uniquely painted by roaming artists passing through.

Goldfield itself is a town worth exploring. Peek inside the windows of the notoriously haunted Goldfield Hotel, grab a cold one and rub elbows with "Nevada's Meanest Bartender" at the Santa Fe Saloon, stroll the Goldfield Cemetery and for a truly immersive experience, tune in to Radio Goldfield, KGFN 89.1.

Continue north about 27 miles (43 km) to Tonopah, site of several silver strikes in the early 20th century. Check out the Tonopah Historic Mining Park next to the Mizpah Hotel. The park is on the original mining claims that started the rush to Tonopah, making it the "Queen of the Silver Camps." The Central Nevada Museum is another place where you can explore the rich and colorful history of central Nevada.

Before bed, look skyward to see why Tonopah has been rated by USA Today as the No. 1 Stargazing Destination in America. Head out to the Crescent Sand Dunes (using Pole Line Road) just north of town for spectacular stargazing.

CENTRAL NEVADA MUSEUM IN TONOPAH

Continuing on to Reno? Check out these other installations along the way. In Fernley stop at the new Main Street Art Park. Here, you'll find two former Burning Man pieces, Bottlecap Gazebo and Rockspinner 6, as well as the Burning Man-inspired community artwork, Desert Tortoise.

Finish your trip in Reno with a visit to the new Reno Playa Art Park, which showcases art from Burning Man.

ITINERARIES: GREAT BASIN HIGHWAY

GREAT BASIN HIGHWAY

Red sandstone cliffs, alpine lakes and underground caves — explore them all and more on Nevada's Great Basin Highway, also known as U.S. 93. This trek takes you through eight Nevada state parks and ends at Great Basin National Park, home of 13,065-foot Wheeler Peak and the Lehman Cave system. You may want to bring your gear — this road trip is perfect for hiking, mountain biking, swimming and fishing.

DAY 1: LAS VEGAS TO VALLEY OF FIRE STATE PARK

From Las Vegas, it's about 52 miles (84 km) on Interstate 15 East to Valley of Fire State Park. Your first stop should be the visitor center, where you can learn about the area's geologic and natural history before exploring trails through area canyons and past rock formations. Petroglyphs can be found throughout the park, but they are most easily viewed at Atlatl Rock area near the western end of the park.

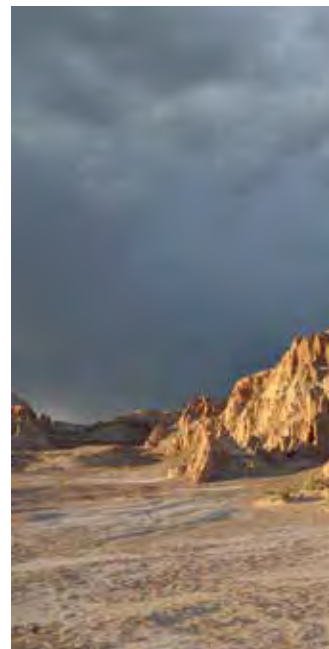

From Valley of Fire, you'll head west on Interstate 15 to the junction with U.S. 93, the Great Basin Highway, heading north. You're on your way!

Overnight in Alamo.

DAY 2: KERSHAW-RYAN AND BEAVER DAM

Grab a lunch to go at Windmill Ridge Restaurant and Bakery and head out on U.S. 95 north toward the state parks in Lincoln County (it's about 55 miles/89 km to Caliente, home of Kershaw-Ryan State Park). If you get an early start, you might want to stop at Oak Springs Summit Trilobite Area (about 44 miles/71 km) on the south side of Oak Springs Summit. This site, overseen by the federal Bureau of Land Management, contains fossil remains of six types of trilobites (marine creatures from the Paleozoic Era).

Continue on to Caliente and Kershaw-Ryan State Park (two miles/three km south of Caliente on state Route 317). A verdant canyon with small springs and a spring-fed wading pool is the centerpiece of this park. Stretch your legs on the easy

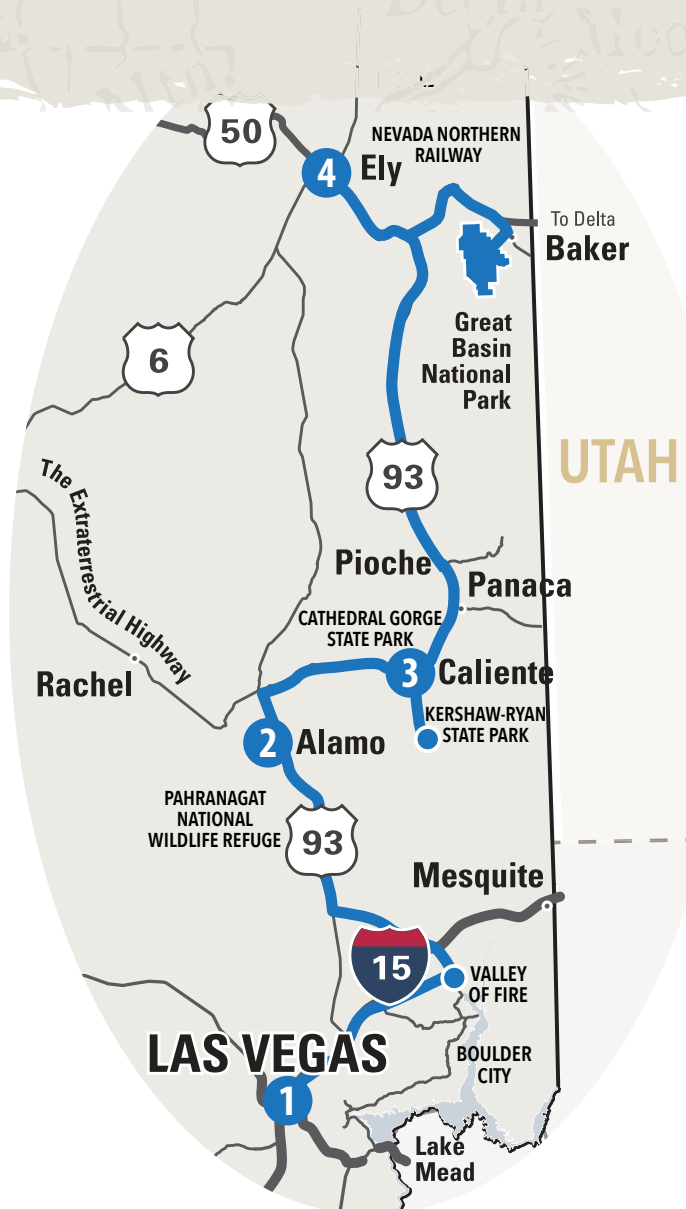

1.5-mile (2.4 km) Overlook Trail. Then head over to Beaver Dam State Park, another 36 miles/58 km), some of it on dirt roads. Anglers, there are plenty of opportunities to fish in the streams below the park's day use area; there also are a few easy hikes here. Overnight in one of the three Lincoln County towns in the area: Caliente, Panaca and Pioche.

DAY 3: CATHEDRAL GORGE, ECHO CANYON AND SPRING VALLEY

Don't pack your suitcase; you'll return to your hotel after a full day of exploration. First on your list today: Cathedral Gorge State Park, which features narrow siltstone canyons that can be explored and climbed. There are a few hiking trails through this dramatic scenery, and there's also a visitors' center that explains this park as well as all eastern Nevada state parks.

Continue on to Echo Canyon State Park, about 22 miles/35 km from Cathedral Gorge State Park off U.S. 93 on Nevada state routes 322 and 86. A 35-acre reservoir at this park offers opportunities for fishing and boating, as well as the 2.5-mile Ash Canyon Trail. Just 12 miles/19 km northeast is Spring Valley State Park. Here, you'll find the 59-acre Eagle Valley Reservoir and ranch homes from the late 19th century, including the Stone Cabin. continued

DAY 4: Ward Charcoal Ovens, Cave Lake State Park, Nevada Northern Railway; overnight in Ely

DAY 5: Great Basin National Park, Baker

ITINERARIES: GREAT BASIN HIGHWAY

If time allows, you'll want to check out a few interesting sites in the town of Pioche: the Million Dollar Courthouse and Boot Hill Cemetery.

DAY 4: WARD CHARCOAL OVENS, CAVE LAKE, ELY

Continue north on the Great Basin Highway — it's 101 miles/163 km to Ward Charcoal Ovens State Historic Park. Here, you'll find a great photo opportunity in six large beehive-shaped ovens where charcoal was made from 1876 to 1879. Juniper and piñon pine were burned in the ovens to create charcoal to be used in the smelters for the Ward Mining District.

From here, it's only 17 miles/27 km to Cave Lake State Park, which has a 32-acre reservoir popular for fishing — brown trout in particular. Hikers can attempt the Cave Lake Overlook Trail, a strenuous, 4.5-mile loop that begins on the eastern end of the lake. Cave Lake also is home to two of Ely's biggest community events, the White Pine Fire and Ice Show, an annual ice sculpture competition, usually held in January; and Cocktails &

Cannons: The Great Bathtub Races, an annual event held in June.

From Cave Lake, it's a quick 13 miles/21 km to Ely. This mining town is home to the Nevada Northern Railway, an historical railway that now runs the Ghost Train of Old Ely, an excursion train; and the adjacent East Ely Railroad Depot Museum.

Stroll the downtown area to view the city's many murals as well as Renaissance Village, a cluster of dwellings renovated to represent the different ethnic groups present in Ely in the early 20th century. For a downloadable map of the Art Walk murals and the Renaissance Village, visit the Ely Renaissance Society website, ElyRenaissance.com.

DAY 5: GREAT BASIN NATIONAL PARK, BAKER

Grab a lunch to go and head to Great Basin National Park, 67 miles/108 km east on U.S. 50 and Nevada state routes 487 and 488. The Lehman Cave ecosystem, 13,063-foot-tall Wheeler Peak, and ancient bristlecone pine trees are the highlights here; the park also is known for its prime stargazing conditions. An annual astronomy festival is held in the fall.

WARD CHARCOAL OVENS

Your first stop should be one of the park's two visitors' centers. The first is off state Route 487, open from May to October; the other is inside the park, at the end of state Route 488 and next to the Lehman Caves.

Discovered in the 1880s, Lehman Caves is a marble cave full of stalactites, stalagmites, and other cave formations that developed over eons. Those delicate structures can be viewed via guided tours, offered year-round.

Head back to Ely for a hot meal and a warm bed — your exploration of the Great Basin Highway is complete! From here, you can backtrack to Las Vegas (243 miles/391 km). Or for more adventure, head to Reno on U.S. 50 westbound (320 miles/515 km) and drive the famed Loneliest Road in America.

TOUR NEVADA'S STATE PARKS

Nevada's 23 state parks span all corners of the Silver State, and offer all types of adventure and activities. From the curiosities of Berlin-Ichthyosaur State Park to the mountain beauty of Lake Tahoe Nevada State Park, there's plenty of space for outdoor recreation. Check out a few highlights below, and for a complete listing of state parks, visit Parks.NV.gov.

FORT CHURCHILL STATE HISTORIC PARK

Berlin-Ichthyosaur: This central Nevada park is a curious blend of history. Berlin was an 1890s mining town (abandoned by 1911) that happens to be adjacent to the Ichthyosaur Fossil Shelter, an excavation site housing the fossils of ichthyosaurs — prehistoric marine reptiles that swam in a warm ocean covering central Nevada 225 million years ago. Visitors can tour the ghost town and mill, and seasonal tours of the park's Diana Mine and the Fossil Shelter are available.

Lake Tahoe Nevada State Park: Swimming, boating, hiking and bicycling are popular at this state park, which includes Sand Harbor beach, three miles south of Incline Village, as well as Spooner Lake Backcountry, near the intersection of Nevada state Route 28 and U.S. 50. The Spooner Lake site offers miles of hiking trails, including access to the Marlette Flume Trail, a favorite of mountain bikers.

Fort Churchill: In 1861, three years before Nevada would become a state, the federal government built a U.S. Army Fort in what is now Silver Springs. The fort was abandoned in 1869, but ruins remain at what is now Fort Churchill State Historic Park. Across the highway is Buckland Station, a stop on the old Pony Express mail route, which operated from 1860 to 1861.

ET FRESH JERKY

EXTRATERRESTRIAL HIGHWAY

In the belly of Nevada, surrounded by miles of undeveloped desert, lies a mystery. Area 51, a secret military base within Nellis Test and Training Range — so secret the government did not acknowledge its existence until 2013 — is here. According to UFO lore, this is where the Pentagon has stored frozen extraterrestrials and recovered alien spacecraft, especially in an area on the base known as Groom Lake. Drive the highway just north of Area 51 — also known as the Extraterrestrial Highway or Nevada state Route 375 — and you just may see a UFO.

DAY 1: LAS VEGAS

Start your trip with a visit to the National Atomic Testing Museum for a look at “Area 51 — Myth or Reality.” This exhibit examines some of the stories surrounding the Area 51 military base. Now you’re ready to drive the ET Highway and make up your own mind about aliens. As fans of the 1990s TV show “The X-Files” know, the truth is out there.

Lodging in Las Vegas is plentiful, but for a retro experience, consider one of the refurbished classic hotels in the up-and-coming downtown Las Vegas.

ALIEN RESEARCH CENTER

DAY 2: EXTRATERRESTRIAL HIGHWAY

Head north from Las Vegas on U.S. 93: it's about 109 miles/175 km to Crystal Springs, a junction where U.S. 93 connects to the ET Highway. Here, you'll want to stop at ET Fresh Jerky, a roadside stop that sells jerky in such flavors as Teriyaki Time Travel and Hell Hole Hot. Get your photo taken next to the store's cool alien murals, and you're on your way.

On the eastern end of the ET Highway is another photo op: the ET Highway sign. In 1996, Nevada state Route 375 was renamed the Extraterrestrial Highway and a public dedication was held in the community of Rachel in conjunction with the 1996 movie "Independence Day." The movie, about an alien invasion of Earth, has humans making their final stand at none other than Area 51.

Just past the ET Highway sign, on the north side of the road, is the Alien Research Center gift shop. You'll know it from the giant alien statue next to the building. Snap another photo, and you're on your way to Rachel.

Rachel, population 54 according to 2010 U.S. Census data, is home to the Little A'Le'Inn, a roadside stop that includes a bar, restaurant and motel. Here, browse for alien souvenirs and take advantage of yet another photo op — a tow truck pulling a UFO is a permanent fixture in the Little A'Le'Inn parking lot — and hit the road.

On the journey, you may notice a couple dirt roads from the ET Highway heading south toward Nellis Test and Training Range and Area 51. Yes, those are paths to Area 51, but you cannot pass the gates into the base, and you should obey all posted signs.

The ET Highway's western end comes at its junction with U.S. 6. Continue on U.S. 6 (westbound) for about 50 miles into Tonopah, home of the Tonopah Historic Mining Park and the Central Nevada Museum.

THE GRIDDLE IN WINNEMUCCA

SAVORING THE SILVER STATE

Food offers so much more than sustenance — it's a tie to culture and history, the basis upon which family and friends gather, a form of art. Dining in Nevada can provide a sense of place, whether you're indulging in a Basque meal in Elko or noshing at the latest celebrity chef restaurant in Las Vegas. Reno watering holes feature locally sourced produce and libations — revealing a side of this desert state of which you may not have been aware. And then there's all those roadside stops discovered on Nevada road trips...

On these pages, find dining inspiration from fellow Nevada travelers, but first, here are a few ways to savor your Nevada trip:

TONOPAH BREWING CO.

PICON PUNCH

Basque dining: Yes, we said Basque, as in the region between France and Spain. A wave of immigration in the mid-19th century landed many Basque in the American West, where they often worked as sheepherders. Boarding houses catering to Basque sheepherders opened, with kitchens that sent out hearty meals served family-style, and washed down with a Picon punch. Today, visitors still can eat in the style of a Basque sheepherder at such restaurants as the Star Hotel in Elko, the Martin Hotel in Winnemucca, Louis' Basque Corner and the Santa Fe Hotel in Reno, and J.T. Basque in Gardnerville. Come hungry!

MARK ESTEE

Celebrity chefs: From Giada DiLaurentis' namesake restaurant at the Cromwell to Gordon Ramsay Steak in the Paris Hotel, Las Vegas is bursting with famous cooks. Among the latest to open eateries are James Beard Award-winning chef Shawn McClain (Libertine Social at Mandalay Bay); and Masaharu Morimoto, star of Food Network's "Iron Chef America" (Morimoto inside the MGM Grand.) Meanwhile, Robert Irvine, host of Food Network's "Restaurant: Impossible," plans to open a place inside the Tropicana in 2017.

Farm to table: A desert state, Nevada has pockets of agriculture, the fruits of which can be found on menus throughout the Silver State. The Slanted Porch in Fallon not only uses produce from local farms, but also grows some of its own on-site. Old Granite Street Eatery in Reno draws from farms in Sparks, Carson City and Winnemucca. In Pahump, the Pahrump Valley Winery presents its vintages at the on-site Symphony's Restaurant.

Nevada has plenty of abundant waterways where you can cast a line. Opportunities range from alpine lakes in northern Nevada's Ruby Mountains (you'll find largemouth bass and several trout species here) to the Colorado River in the south (channel catfish, blue gill and more). In all, Nevada has more than 200 lakes and reservoirs and 600 streams and rivers; it's one of the few states where you can catch all seven fish on the International Game Fish Association's Royal Trout Slam challenge.

Get your fishing license online at the Nevada Department of Wildlife website, www.ndow.org/fish, or if you're already here, grab it at one of the state's license agents — a list can be found on the NDOW website. The NDOW site also has the Nevada Fishing Guide, as well as information on where to fish, stocking updates and more.

FISHING PRO TIP

"One of my favorite places to fish in Nevada is the Truckee River. We are truly blessed to have such an amazing fishery right in our backyard. Aside from not having to drive more than five to 10 minutes from downtown Reno to be on a great stretch of river, the Truckee doesn't see the pressure like comparable rivers in other states. As a result, it is not rare to have a day fishing the Truckee without seeing another angler. While nothing beats watching a fish take a dry fly, I believe one of the most productive methods to fishing the Truckee is learning how to high-stick nymph. Drifting a dead-drift crawfish pattern using this technique on an early summer morning helped me reel in a nice 3.5-pound brown trout."

FISHING ADVENTURE by Denis Isbister

Growing up out west, my fishing addiction began with family trips in eastern Nevada, chasing trout in small creeks and high desert reservoirs. As I grew older, the urge to find more remote destinations drove me to far-reaching places, but I've come to realize that it's not always about the crazy fish and remote travel, but bringing it back to old-school adventure. I couldn't help but jump on a recent opportunity to fish in eastern Nevada; I wanted to see pockets of Nevada I hadn't seen in 20 years. We began in Elko, backpacking into Lamoille Canyon to chase brook and native mackinaw trout in the pristine alpine lakes the Rubies are known for, fished for largemouth bass on the Ruby Marsh, and rounded out the trip with a visit to the extremely remote Jarbidge Wilderness Area. The short time I spent here really brought back some good memories with my grandpa — everything smelled and looked the exact same. We visited the Jarbidge Trading Post for some live bait, and a resident old-timer tipped us off on the best fishing hole in the area, and we were off. We stuck with a spinning rod and a container of night crawlers, and started working the creek for hours. As the day progressed, we caught tons of red band rainbows, but were still missing out on the prized bull. We plowed our way through the marsh, crossing the creek countless times and carefully navigating through the willows, eventually posting up near a giant beaver dam and cast into a massive pond. It worked! We set the hook and a bull was on! It was a small trout, but a beautiful trophy that we celebrated with pics before releasing. Based on my time in northeastern Nevada, I can officially say it won't ever take me 20 years to get back to the basics again!

For more of Denis' "Getting back to basics in Jarbidge," visit: TravelNevada.com.

ANGLER'S DELIGHT

Take a crack at getting your name on the highly coveted list of trout masters, or the IGFA Royal Trout Slam. Only a couple hundred have secured their spot on this catch and release list, reeling in all seven trout required. Fisherman have traveled all over the western United States to snatch all seven trout on the list, but here's an insider pro tip we can all rest easy with: You can reel in all seven within the state of Nevada.

PAST PRESENT: NEVADA'S GHOST TOWNS

Ghost towns — remnants of late 19th and early 20th century mining towns — dot the Nevada landscape. The Silver State, after all, was built on mining, an industry that continues strong today. But its past is still present on Nevada's back roads and byways, in the form of abandoned buildings and crumbling stone fireplaces. There are more than 600 ghost towns in Nevada. To find these treasures, you may want to check out Nevada Magazine's ghost town map, available online at NevadaMagazine.com, or review these pages for ideas.

GHOST TOWN PRO TIP

"I've always found it fascinating to see how and where people in the past survived in places that were in the middle of nowhere. Nevada is lucky because there are so many still existing thanks to the dry weather. It's tough to pick a favorite out of hundreds, but I like Simon, Sylvania, Tybo, Ophir and Cloverdale the best: they're true ghost towns that have been completely abandoned with no modern infrastructure or residents. If you're traveling the back roads to visit these places, try checking in with locals to get road conditions and be aware of the weather. And always remember to bring plenty of water, extra gas, a flashlight, snacks and a good spare tire and tire repair kit. A good topo map is essential, too."

—Herb Robbins, proprietor of Gold Point B&B

GHOST TOWN ADVENTURE by Sydney Martinez

If you can believe it, there are more ghost towns than actual populated towns in Nevada. How cool is that?!?! This officially means that there are more mining camps of yesteryear than actual populated communities...there are a lot to choose from. If you like your history with a side of recreation, Jarbidge is your jam. Tucked far away in the northeastern corner of Nevada, this quiet community isn't just a geographical opposite of Vegas...it couldn't contrast any more in lifestyle either. Jaw-dropping landscapes and big-game trophy animals draw outdoor adventurers into this sleepy town today, but life didn't always move this slowly in these parts. Jarbidge was quite the happening mining community in the early 1900s, so much, in fact, that it was one of the last true gold rushes in the American West. And with successful mining enterprises comes what? BANDITS. A trip to Jarbidge is far from complete without hitting up the original jail; it's chock-full of goodies like authentic mining claims and even the original cot bed and chamber pot. Jarbidge was also the site of the last stagecoach robbery in the American West, but what's especially interesting about it is the fact that this was the very first time a palm or fingerprint had ever been admitted as evidence in a court trial in the WORLD. Jarbidge Jail's most noted prisoner — Ben Kulh — left a bloody handprint that was lifted from the stagecoach that ultimately threw him in the clink for good.

TEE TIME IN NEVADA

Where can you swing your clubs in Nevada? Pretty much everywhere: Nevada offers miles of fairways, some on desert courses, others in mountainous terrain, but always with unique Nevada twists. The Las Vegas area offers more than 50 courses, including Cascata in Boulder City and the Wynn Golf Club, right behind the resort on the Strip. There's also the new, 105,000-square-foot TopGolf center behind the MGM Grand Hotel & Casino, as well as the TaylorMade Golf Experience for night golf and instruction.

Travel 80 miles northeast of Las Vegas, and you'll find Mesquite — a town of around 15,500 people and nine golf courses. Stay in Mesquite for a week and play a different course every day. Travel north to the Carson City-Carson Valley area — just south of Reno — to take on the Divine 9, a group of courses nestled on the eastern side of the Sierra Nevada. And don't forget the greens in nearby Lake Tahoe and Reno. Breathtaking lake views can be enjoyed from such courses as Edgewood Tahoe, host of the popular American Century Celebrity Golf Championship, and the

Golf Courses at Incline Village. In the Reno-Sparks area, choices include LakeRidge Golf Course and Red Hawk Golf and Resort.

RETAIL THERAPY, NEVADA STYLE

Pack lightly when visiting Nevada — you'll need extra space in your suitcase after indulging in some retail therapy. Whether you're bargain hunting for name brands, cruising for antiques or looking for a one-of-a-kind Nevada gift, there are more than a few ways to lighten your wallet in the Silver State. Here's a look:

Outlets and malls: The Las Vegas Strip is a shopping mecca, with mammoth malls such as the Miracle Mile Shops at Planet Hollywood, a 1.2-mile retail complex; and Fashion Show, with nearly 2 million square feet of name brands. Premium Outlets also has two locations here — one on the south end of the Strip and one at the north. Travel to Primm, 40 miles southwest of Las Vegas, for the Fashion Outlets of Las Vegas. In the northern end of the state, check out the wares at the Outlets at Sparks or The Summit in Reno.

Vegas-area vintage: Las Vegas' Antique Alley is a collection of antique stores in and around downtown Las Vegas, including the Funk House, featuring '50s Modern items, and Medusa's Antiques, for eclectic finds. Head over to Boulder City for more retro finds at such places as Sherman's House of Antiques and Antique Depot.

Reno's Midtown: Just south of downtown Reno, a clutch of local shops, contemporary restaurants and trendy bars have made Midtown a fun visit. Check out everything from vintage clothing and furniture at Junkee Clothing Exchange to goggles and other Burning Man-inspired gear at Melting Pot World Emporium.

Austin turquoise shops: In the middle of Nevada, along the Loneliest Road in America (U.S. 50), is the small town of Austin. With a population of 192, Austin is home to a couple turquoise shops, Little Blue Bird Turquoise and the Trading Post, which sell the semiprecious stone that is mined near by. Rock on!

Western gear in Elko: Home to the National Cowboy Poetry Gathering, Elko is historically a ranching community (mining also is big here), and home to J.M. Capriola Co. Dating back to 1929, the store sells saddles, Garcia bits and spurs, hats, boots and other items essential to the bona-fide cowboy. The retail section is on the first floor, but visitors also can go upstairs, where saddles are made and other leather work is done.

TAKE THE PLUNGE IN NEVADA

Nevada is one of those places with hundreds of hot spots — and we don't mean nightclubs with celebrity DJs (although we have those, too). Nevada has an abundance of geothermal activity, and this heat from the earth means there are multiple hot springs to visit around the state. Visitors can bathe in a developed spring, such as David Walley's Hot Springs Resort in Genoa, or experience a spring in a natural setting, such as Spencer Hot Springs near Austin. Be cautious if you're visiting a spring in a natural setting (check for temperature and bacteria levels), and make sure you are on public land. For details on individual hot springs, visit TravelNevada.com, or review these pages for ideas.

HOT SPRINGS ADVENTURE by Lauren Renda

Being a self-proclaimed hot-springs enthusiast, I love to seek out a soak wherever and whenever I can. Nevada is the perfect place to find them: There are more than 300 naturally occurring hot springs in the state, meaning that Nevada boasts the most hot springs in the United States. One weekend in July, the itch to travel and to get off the grid a bit was hitting me hard, so the decision to explore Spencer Hot Springs was an easy one. I grabbed a friend and some camping gear and we set off early Saturday morning. It's a three-hour drive from Reno to Austin, which is a great stop on its own or in conjunction with the hot springs, and then another 20 miles on a dirt road out to Spencer. The location is amazing both in terms of physical beauty and the fact that you feel like you're in the middle of nowhere, but it's so easy to get to. There is something so soul-soothing about warm, natural water, and an outstanding view. Nestled comfortably in the tub, your view is of the aptly named Big Smoky Valley with the Toiyabe

Range to the west and the Toquima Range to the east. The combination of water, mountains and expansive desert is so quintessentially Nevada, and one of the things I love so much about the state.

For more hot springs adventure, or to start one of your own, visit: TravelNevada.com.

HOT SPRINGS PRO TIP:

The reason hot springing in Nevada is better than anywhere else is simple: the scale, the vastness, the variety. From tree-shrouded oases to never-ending peak-studded valleys... from natural pools and rock-dammed creeks to cattle troughs and pipe-fitted, valve-controlled feats of backcountry cowboy-tub genius. Throw in some long dirt roads, a little ruffraff-filtering remoteness and whoppingly dark night skies that'd make ol' Hubble weep, and you've got yourself a pretty alright time. The best part? You've probably got it all to yourself."

EXPLORE HISTORY, CULTURE, ART AND MORE AT NEVADA'S MUSEUMS

Get a handle on Nevada's history and culture when you visit one of the state's many museums. There are seven state museums, plus others that focus on art, children's education and more. Plan a visit to make every trip brighter. Here's a look at a few:

Carson City: The state capital is home to the Nevada State Museum, Carson City, and the Nevada State Railroad Museum, Carson City. The State Museum includes the old Carson City Mint, in operation in the late 19th century to process silver from the nearby Comstock mines in Virginia City. Here, American Indians' stories are told in "Under One Sky," one of several other exhibits at the site.

The railroad museum has artfully restored, and operates, signature artifacts that convey the challenges railroad builders and operators faced in their efforts to join vast Nevada with ribbons of steel. See the famous Glenbrook and Inyo steam locomotives from 1875.

Elko: The California Trail Interpretive Center, eight miles west of Elko on Interstate 80, tells the story of the thousands of pioneers who traveled the California Trail in the mid-19th century, seeking their fortunes in the gold fields of California. In the city proper is the Northeastern Nevada Museum, which features an extensive collection of work by Western artist and author Will James.

Ely: The East Ely Railroad Depot Museum, another state museum, is located in the East Ely Railroad Depot and tells of the region's mining and transportation heritage. Pair your visit with an excursion ride on the historical Nevada Northern Railway, in the same complex.

Las Vegas and Las Vegas area: The award-winning Nevada State Museum, Las Vegas, is world recognized for its collection of gaming artifacts; showgirl costumes; and mining, ranching and railroad items. It's located inside Springs Preserve, a 180-acre cultural institution with its own museums and galleries.

The Lost City Museum, preserving prehistoric artifacts of the Ancestral Pueblo people, is in Overton, about 63 miles/101 km east of Las Vegas. The Nevada State Railroad Museum, Boulder City, tells the story of the Boulder Branch Line, commissioned by Union Pacific Railroad in 1931 to haul equipment and material needed to construct the Hoover Dam. While visiting here, take a ride on the Nevada Southern Railway.

In Las Vegas, also is home to the Mob Museum, presenting a fascinating view of organized crime in Las Vegas, as well as in the United States and the world; and the Neon Museum, which features more than 200 historical Las Vegas signs in a two-acre outdoor campus. Children can explore nine hands-on exhibition halls at the Discovery Children's Museum or see an animatronic dinosaur exhibit at the Las Vegas Natural History Museum.

Reno: The Nevada Historical Society on the University of Nevada, Reno, campus is a state museum that preserves and shares the life of the Silver State and Reno's history. Reno also is home to the National Automobile Museum, featuring 200 cars in galleries designed to represent different time periods. The Nevada Museum of Art exhibits national and international

AMERICAN INDIAN HISTORY PRESERVED AT HISTORICAL SCHOOL

Aletha Tom was 12 when she left her home on the Moapa Indian reservation in southern Nevada to attend the Stewart Indian School in Carson City. The year was 1959, and the Stewart Indian School — a federally-run boarding school for American Indian children — had been in operation since 1890. Times had changed a bit from those early decades, when the children at Stewart often were there against their will, forcibly separated from their families and forbidden to speak native languages. Instead, Tom recalls life at the school as generally positive — a life governed by strict rules, but one that also included happy memories, such as the times she and her classmates snuck food into their room in the Small Girls Dorm.

Tom's story is one of many that visitors can listen to during a self-guided audio tour that can be accessed through personal cell phones at the Stewart Indian School, about three miles south of downtown Carson City. Visitors, referencing signs at the site, can listen to recordings of Stewart alumnae and former employees sharing their stories about the school. The trail is .6 miles on paved surface, with 20 stops, each connected to an audio recording.

The school, listed on the National Register of Historic Places, closed in 1980, and the 109-acre facility today is owned by the state of Nevada. The grounds are open to the public each day from dawn until dusk. Many of the 83 buildings currently are in use by state agencies, such as the Nevada Indian Commission, and nonprofit groups.

Efforts are under way to open a cultural center in the old administration building to help tell the story of the Stewart Indian School, and preserve this important chapter in American history. Long-term plans include refurbishing additional buildings on the campus to create a cultural heritage destination. For more information, visit: StewartIndianSchool.com.

Pyramid Lake Paiute Tribe Museum and Visitor Center:

Located in Nixon, on the Pyramid Lake Paiute Tribe Reservation (about 48 miles/77 km) northeast of Reno, the museum describes the tribe's history and culture, and provides insight into why the Paiute people hold the lake and its surrounding landscape sacred. For more, visit the website PyramidLake.us.

Hidden Cave: Located in Fallon, about 1.5 miles north of Grimes Point Archaeological Area, is Hidden Cave. People began using the cave to store food, tools and other supplies about 3,500 years ago — a time when this high desert area was a marsh around an ancient lake. The cave can be visited by guided tour only offered on the second and fourth Saturday of the month. For details, visit the Churchill County Museum website CCMuseum.org.

Lovelock Cave: This former archaeological site is 20 miles/32 km south of Lovelock. First excavated in 1912, among the artifacts recovered were 2,000-year-old tule duck decoys believed to be the oldest in the world. Scientific research shows that people used the cave between about 2,000 B.C. and 1,000 A.D., when the desert area had more water, plants and animals. Before embarking on your trip, download the Lovelock Cave Backcountry Byway Guide, which has information on the area's history, geology and environment, as well as a map that will get you from the community of Lovelock to the Lovelock Cave.

ALL ABOARD NEVADA'S HISTORICAL RAILWAYS

Nevada's heritage railways tell the vivid story of how railroads changed the face of the American West in the 19th and 20th centuries. In a hostile environment, the train pioneers built transportation and communication systems that helped develop and serve mining and logging industries across the state. Nevada State Railroad museums in Carson City, Boulder City and Ely offer glimpses at the authentic equipment that drove the railroads, including steam locomotives, the self-propelled McKeen motor car, boxcars, stations and offices frozen in time.

In Boulder City, the museum explores the Nevada Southern Railway, and offers excursion rides on the railway built in the 1930s to haul supplies from Las Vegas to Boulder City, where the Hoover Dam was being constructed. Themed rides during the holidays and fun, family activities throughout the year complement the museum's heritage exhibits, programs and community events.

The state capital is home to the Nevada State Railroad Museum, Carson City, and the V&T Railroad. The railroad museum focuses on the how the railways hauled ore from the mines in nearby Virginia City to mills along the Carson River, made possible logging at Lake Tahoe and spurred the growth of small towns. The museum shares the Silver State's connection with the transcontinental Central Pacific Railroad. In addition to exhibits with a rare collection of railroad equipment and artifacts, train rides are offered seasonally around the facility. The newly restored 1875 narrow gauge steam locomotive the Glenbrook, and its standard gauge sister the Inyo, are on display and operate on special occasions.

On the other side of Carson City is the V&T Railroad, offering excursion rides from Carson City to Virginia City, from Virginia City to Gold Hill, and a third route along the Carson River Canyon. Themed rides, including the holiday Polar Express excursion, are offered.

The East Ely Depot Museum tells the story of eastern Nevada's mining and transportation heritage with timetables, personnel records and historical offices. Then find the Nevada Northern Railway, which hauled copper ore from the mines west of town in the early 20th century and today offers excursion rides, including such themed rides as the Haunted Ghost Train and the Polar Express. Activities available include Railroad Reality Week, where visitors learn how to preserve and operate the trains, and winter photo shoot camps. Guests can even spend the night at the facility in the caboose or the bunkhouse.

LET OFF SOME STEAM

Give your family a thrill on the V&T Railway! Choose the Carson City-Virginia City historic steam engine ride or the Virginia City-Gold Hill route and experience narrated excursions that bring the 1870s Comstock Era to life with colorful canyons, close-your-eyes tunnels and next-bend surprises.

TURQUOISE

DIG THOSE NEVADA GEMS

Nevada was founded on mining. Silver deposits found in 1859 near what is now Virginia City were key to the state's acceptance into the Union in 1864. Today, Nevada continues to produce ore, everything from gold to lithium, making the state an interesting one for rock hounders. For those who like to play in the dirt, there are a few places where you can mine for garnets, opals and turquoise in Nevada.

Garnet Hill, six miles west of Ely, is a public rock-hounding area managed by the federal Bureau of Land Management. Here, you'll find the dark, red-brown mineral inside volcanic rock called rhyolite, which is abundant in the area. Find one, and you've got a unique Nevada souvenir.

Nevada's Virgin Valley, about 35 miles southwest of Denio near the border with Oregon, is home to three opal mines — Bonanza, Rainbow Ridge and Royal Peacock. For-fee digging is offered seasonally, and rock hounders generally are looking for the rare black opals, although the stones come in all colors.

Head to Tonopah — midway between Las Vegas and Reno, on U.S. 95 — to hunt for turquoise at Royston Turquoise Mine. For-fee tours are held seasonally; visitors can observe the workings of the mine and rummage through tailing piles in search of the blueish-green rocks. Dig in!

ROCKHOUNDING PRO TIP

"I've been working as a silversmith for about four years and opened Honey & Goldie's storefront in Reno this past summer. I am very inspired by Nevada and all of its beauty, which is something I try to incorporate into all of my designs."

"Nevada has the most turquoise mines out of any state in America; I'm constantly blown away by that. I've met so many incredible people through turquoise, (each) with a new, unique story, and everyone is always beyond willing and ready to connect me to the next person."

"Austin also has some great stones for purchase! At Honey & Goldies, we cut most of our cabs, but heading to Austin is one of my favorite Nevada trips. So much to explore, and it's considered to be the turquoise mecca of Nevada."

VEGAS OFF ROAD TOURS

REV YOUR ENGINES!

Nevada's abundance of public land means nearly unlimited terrain for off-roading vehicle adventure. Whether you're exploring the state's many mountain ranges or cruising the numerous desert valleys and sand dunes, trails await. Popular areas include Sand Mountain in Fallon, the Winnemucca Sand Dunes north of Winnemucca and Amargosa Big Dune south of Beatty. Experienced off-road drivers may want to check out the Shoshone Off-Highway Vehicle trail south of Battle Mountain, or the Silver State Off-Highway Vehicle Trail, accessible from four trailheads in Lincoln County. In northeast Nevada, the community of Elko is near several off-road trails, including Maggie Creek and Coal Mine Canyon.

Visitors to Nevada can ride their off-road vehicles registered in another state (as long as it is not located in Nevada for more than 15 days). For details on off-road rules and regulations, visit the Nevada Off-Road Highway Vehicle website, nvohv.com. Those interested in renting off-road vehicles or joining a tour will want to check with area visitors bureaus or visit TravelNevada.com.

IT'S ALL UP FROM HERE

Nevada is home to one of the finest rock climbing areas in the world: Red Rock Canyon National Conservation Area, about 17 miles/27 km west of Las Vegas. Here, red sandstone cliffs accessible from trailheads Calico 1 and Calico 2 draw climbing enthusiasts from all over. Red Rock NCA, managed by the federal Bureau of Land Management, has a climbing staff, and can provide information on guides. Red Rock also is home to the annual Red Rock Rendezvous climbing festival, open to beginning as well as experienced climbers.

Other Nevada climbing areas include Lamoille Canyon in the Ruby Mountains near Elko, River Rock in Reno, Dinosaur Rock in Carson City and the East Shore Crags around Incline Village. For information on those sites, visit TravelNevada.com.

If you're looking for indoor or man-made climbing walls, Nevada has that, also. BaseCamp at Whitney Peak in Reno has the tallest climbing wall in the world (164 feet/50 meters) on the outside of the resort, overlooking Virginia Street. Inside is a bouldering park for free (non-harnessed) climbing. Also in Reno is RockSport Indoor Climbing Center; in the southern end of the state, there's Red Rock Climbing Center.

CLIMBING ADVENTURE by Matt Kuehl

The spirit of adventure is alive and well in Las Vegas and you don't need a reservation, players' card, or your name on a guest list to experience it. The Red Rock National Conservation Area, located 17 miles (27 km) outside the entertainment mega-hub of Las Vegas, is attracting people from around the world for a wildly different reason. From hiking to canyoneering, rock climbing or sightseeing, it seems that this impressive stretch of the Mojave Desert has the world's attention and people are exploring the canyons with youthful enthusiasm. Spend enough time at Red Rock and you'll undoubtedly discover that the most common "wildlife" is probably the desert rock climber. These folks spend days and sometimes nights climbing to the high summits of the escarpment for some of the best rockaneering, bouldering and sport climbing in the world. So gather your friends and strap on your hiking shoes, because there's adventure out there, and I hope you're excited to find it.

CLIMBING PRO TIP:

Red Rock is definitely one of the premier climbing destinations in the country, if not the world. The easy access makes it highly desirable...Red Rock is only 30 minutes from the airport in Vegas. Comparatively, Yosemite Valley is four hours from an international airport. Plus, you can climb in a variety of styles at Red Rock: steep low angles, clip bolts, stack pads or go plug cams, single pitch sunny cragging, etc. That, and the abundance of long and moderate routes, makes Red Rock a premier climbing destination for sure. Juniper Canyon and Black Velvet Canyon are favorite routes of mine because they have a remote feel to them, the rock is wonderful, the climbing is challenging, and the positions you find yourself in can be completely outrageous. When it comes to gear, make sure you use your common sense and adequately prepare. Plus, always keep a headlamp on you in Red Rock, try to keep things super casual and fun.

-Weston Lippia, climber from Las Vegas

HIT THE SLOPES

With several hundred ranges, Nevada is one of the most mountainous states in the Union. That means lots of terrain for skiing, boarding and cross-country fun. Three of Nevada's four main resorts are in the northern end of the state, around Lake Tahoe and just an hour's drive from Reno and Reno-Tahoe International Airport. Heavenly Mountain Resort, which straddles the Nevada-California border, offers 97 trails on 4,800 skiable acres — expert favorites are Mott Canyon and Killebrew Canyon on, of course, the Nevada side. Mt. Rose-Ski Tahoe, whose slopes are visible from the Reno airport tarmac, offers challenge in the form of the Chutes — a 200-acre area of north-facing slopes with pitches from 40 degrees to 55 degrees — as well as mid-week deals. Then there's Diamond Peak, a family favorite for its low-key vibe and views of Lake Tahoe.

In the south is Lee Canyon, one of the region's often-overlooked gems. About an hour's drive north from Las Vegas and just north of Mount Charleston, this small resort (three lifts, 30 serviced snow trails) offers an unexpected option for the Las Vegas visitor.

Those who prefer cross-country and snowshoeing will find plenty of terrain within the Humboldt-Toiyabe National Forest, which encompasses most of the mountainous regions of Nevada. The Mt. Rose Meadows, along the Mt. Rose Scenic Byway (about 25 miles south of Reno) is a popular spot. In the northern end of the state, near the community of Ely, cross country and snowshoeing areas include Ward Mountain Recreation Area, Bird Creek Campground and Timber Creek Campground.

Thrill-seekers may want to check out helicopter skiing options in the Ruby Mountains, which are on the eastern side of the state near Elko. Elko also is home to Snobowl Ski Area, a ski and bike park with one lift and a tow rope for easy winter fun.

HEAVENLY MOUNTAIN RESORT

SKIING PRO TIP:

"I've been skiing for 31 years, and a sponsored big mountain/backcountry skier for 12 seasons. Mt. Rose is the best resort experience in Nevada because it's close to Reno and Tahoe with views of both, and has a rootsy local vibe to it. But my best backcountry experience was at Great Basin National Park. Wheeler Peak is the state's second highest summit, and the large cirque between it and neighboring Jeff Davis Peak offers some of the finest late-season skiing in the entire state. Steep chutes, open bowls, whatever type of terrain you're looking for sits above the remnants of an old glacier and an enormous grove of Bristlecone pines. In the late spring, the road is open up to 10,000 feet, providing for easy access to this backcountry bounty."

—Jeremy Benson, professional skier, Lake Tahoe

RUBY MOUNTAIN HELI EXPERIENCE

SKIING ADVENTURE by David Bunker

Helicopter rotors throb overhead. Snow crystals beaten by the powerful downdraft of the Astar 350 B3 aircraft erupt into a reverse snowstorm, ascending into the brilliant blue sky above the Ruby Mountains. Our group of four is kneeling in deep powder, hunched against the rotor wash as the heli touches down. Carefully, we pass skis and snowboards to the guide and then pile back into the chopper. The rotors whine as they power back up to full speed and suddenly we are airborne, levitating over the steep canyons, leafless aspens and jagged ridges of the Rubies. This is not some dream, I have to remind myself. I am heli-skiing for the first time in my life, and it happens to be in the most improbable locations—deep in the desert of Nevada in a remote, wild and intensely beautiful mountain range halfway between Lake Tahoe and Salt Lake City. As the thwop-thwop-thwop of the helicopter fades, utter silence envelopes us. We slowly realize that, apart from perhaps a couple backcountry skiers in Lamoille Canyon, we might be the only skiers for hundreds of miles in either direction. It's my first time skiing Ruby Mountain Powder, and I am instantly addicted.

GET HITCHED IN NEVADA!

Lovers from all over the globe travel to Nevada to take advantage of the myriad fun and unique wedding experiences offered throughout the state. From whimsical, fun ceremonies in Las Vegas to outdoor events at Lake Tahoe, Nevada weddings run the gamut.

Besides beautiful and unique venues from which to choose, Nevada offers ease and simplicity when it comes to tying the knot. There is no waiting period or blood test requirement in the Silver State. Couples will have to obtain a marriage license from the county clerk's office, but once that is in hand, they are ready to exchange vows. Once the ceremony occurs, the officiant will sign and file the marriage certificate, and 10 days later, couples may request the official document showing their marriage ($15).

Couples from other countries may be required to provide their country of origin with a copy of the marriage license and an apostille (authentication of signatures) to register a marriage in a foreign country. International visitors can contact the Nevada Secretary of State to order an apostille.

FINDING YOUR WAY AROUND NEVADA

Nevada is a big state... the seventh largest in the Nation. To help you get around and understand the geography, topography and history of the state, we talk in terms of territories. The following pages are everything you need to know to find hotels, RV parks, interesting attractions and contact information for each of the state's six territories.

1 COWBOY COUNTRY: Named for the gritty and gutsy cowboys who still work the ranches in the northern part of the state, Cowboy Country stretches from California to Utah along Interstate 80.
cowboycountry.org

2 RENO-TAHOE TERRITORY: This is the area in the northwestern part of the state named for Reno and the great Lake Tahoe. This territory includes Carson City, the state capital, and Virginia City.
renotahoe.com

3 PONY EXPRESS TERRITORY: The famed Pony Express Route cuts through the middle of Nevada, roughly parallel to U.S. Highway 50. You'll find Great Basin National Park on the eastern edge of this territory, and Dayton, the first gold discovery site in Nevada, on the western edge.
ponyexpressnevada.com

4 NEVADA SILVER TRAILS: Ghost towns and played-out silver mines dot the landscape in Nevada Silver Trails. This territory is the largest in Nevada, spanning the state east to west and encompassing Area 51 and the Extraterrestrial Highway.
nevadasilvertrails.com

5 LAS VEGAS TERRITORY: The famous Las Vegas Strip and Hoover Dam are found in this region, as well as attractions and recreational areas in such cities as Henderson, Boulder City, Laughlin and Mesquite.

6 INDIAN TERRITORY: This is a statewide territory; it is cultural rather than geographic. Nevada boasts significant tribal lands and cultural sites, and it's these gems that make up the Indian Territory.

COWBOY COUNTRY

Named for the gritty and gutsy cowboys who still work the ranches in the northern part of the state, Cowboy Country stretches from California to Utah along Interstate 80. The National Cowboy Poetry Gathering happens annually in Elko and the Ranch Hand Rodeo in Winnemucca is as authentic as it gets. There's even a few opportunities to participate in a ranch vacation. For more on that and other fun in Cowboy Country, visit CowboyCountry.org.

Must-Sees:

- Angel Lake
- Black Rock Desert

PONY EXPRESS TERRITORY

A portion of the famed Pony Express horseback mail route, in operation from 1860 to 1861, cuts through the middle of Nevada, roughly parallel to U.S. 50. Along this quiet byway you'll find such hidden gems as Great Basin National Park, the old mining towns of Austin and Eureka, the agricultural community of Fallon, and Dayton, the first gold discovery site in Nevada. Visit ponyexpressnevada.com for more.

Must-sees:

Austin turquoise shops
Cave Lake State Park
Churchill County Museum
East Ely Railroad Depot Museum
Eureka Opera House
Frey Ranch
Great Basin National Park
Hotel Nevada
Lattin Farms
Nevada Northern Railway National Historic Landmark
Nevada state Route 722 and Carroll Summit
Oats Park Art Center

NEVADA'S INDIAN TERRITORY

The Silver State is covered with significant tribal lands and cultural sites, and it's these gems that make up Nevada's Indian Territory, a statewide territory. Indian Territory is home to four major American Indian tribes: Washoe, Northern Paiute, Southern Paiute and Western Shoshone. For thousands of years, their ancestors were the stewards of this land.

PYRAMID LAKE

360° of ADVENTURE

From Death Valley to Rhyolite Ghost Town, and from the Amargosa Big Dunes to Bailey's Hot Springs...Beatty is in the center of it all. We're your gateway to adventure!

Ph: 1.866.736.3716
www.beattynevada.org

DON'T MISS
BEATTY DAYS!
STARTS LAST FRIDAY
IN OCTOBER.

A STEP BACK INTO THE OLD WEST.

GHOST TOWNS & GUNFIGHTERS

[BEATTY/RHYOLITE] From old west shootouts along the streets of Beatty to the desolate silence of Rhyolite Ghost Town, you'll feel as if you've stepped back in time, to the days when outlaws like Billy the Kid ran a muck. The gunslingers that walk these streets today are just having fun, and while reenactments of old west shootouts are a daily occurrence, you'll find nothing but friendly folks and plenty of adventure to be had.

ONLY 7 MILES FROM THE ENTRANCE TO DEATH VALLEY NATIONAL PARK.

JUST 98 MILES NORTH OF LAS VEGAS ON HIGHWAY 95.

Made possible by a Nevada Commission on Tourism grant. www.travelnevada.com

DON'T FENCE ME IN

NEVADA SPEAKS

TO WEEKEND WANDERERS AND LONG-HAUL PONDERERS

GUARDIANS OF TRADITION AND BUCKERS OF TRENDS,

WHO STAND OUT IN CROWDS, OR TRADE THEM FOR THE WIDE-OPEN ROAD.

BOULEVARDS SHIMMERING WITH MILES OF NEON,

AND DARK SKIES DANCING ON A STARLIGHT STAGE

ALL-ENCOMPASSING, ONE VAST PLAYGROUND.

THE ROAD MIGHT END... BUT THE SPIRIT OF NEVADA NEVER DOES.

WHERE WILL YOUR STORY TAKE YOU?

NEVADA A WORLD WITHIN.
A STATE APART.
